DIVISION FOES SEEKING FULL COUNTY VOTE

Opponents of Separation Program At Rally in Hayward Lay Plans For Systematic Canvass in All Sections

Hill and Valley Club Adopts Resolution Denouncing the Split As Scheme To Shift Burden of Road Taxes

Gathered to perfect plans for a systematic organization to bring out the full vote at the election on February 7, representatives of the various communities of Alameda county, including Oakland, met at the Hill and Valley Club last night. Besides the perfection of machinery for getting out the vote, the meeting brought out expressions of opinion to indicate the size and the sentiment of the rallying on election day.

Resolutions deploring the fact that efforts were being made to divide the county and expressing the belief that the fair-minded citizens of Oakland were not advocates of shifting road and bridge costs on the farmers were adopted by unanimous vote.

NINETY PER CENT VOTE AGAINST DIVISION.

Among the outstanding points of agreement were: The vote in the up-country on February 7 will be more than 90 per cent against county division.

Oakland will recognize that it is the products of Alameda county that have made her famous in the country, and will refuse to separate itself from the rich agricultural land.

Oakland will recognize that the roads of the county bring trade to Oakland, and that they are used by Oakland motorists, and will not seek to shift all the burden of maintaining them on the farmers.

A house-to-house canvass will be conducted in all of the communities for the purpose of seeing that the registered voters go to the polls. Resolutions will be used and other means taken to remind the citizens of the day and of the duty.

LIVERMORE MAN IS MEETING CHAIRMAN.

The meeting chose for its chairman George Beck of Livermore, and for its secretary E. Lintbourn of San Leandro.

Committees named to read in the organization and who will select others from the women's organization and elsewhere are: Washington Township—Manuel Brown, Warm Springs; R. V. Jones, Niles; J. H. Ralph, Alvarado.

Eden Township—Henry Garasberg, F. D. Granger, San Leandro; J. F. Smith, San Lorenzo.

Alameda Township—George Beck, Livermore; Mike Mulvey, Alameda; M. J. Callahan, Livermore.

Alameda—Frank Otis, mayor; Henry Schlichting, Ernest Niles, Berkeley; Charles Hadden, Thousand Oaks.

Among those who spoke were A. W. Bean, Hayward; J. Allison Bruner, San Leandro; E. C. Soules, Alameda; Mayor Frank Otis, Alameda; Fred Lawson, San Lorenzo; Louis Hase, Newark; Judge Richard Niles, Niles; R. V. Jones, Niles; Carl Strom, Alameda, and others.

The Hill and Valley club of Hayward, representing 120 women of that city, pledged their efforts to bring out the vote, and their election in bringing out the vote, and the Country club of Washington township made a similar offer from 150 women of that district.

The resolutions adopted at the meeting were as follows: Whereas, the question of the permanent division of Alameda county squarely faces the voters of all the incorporated and unincorporated territory on February 7, a division which, in our opinion, will materially increase the costs and lessen the efficiency of government in the various units resulting therefrom.

Whereas, Alameda is now the third largest county in the state, the divided territory would be divided into five counties, each of which would be a smaller unit than the county of Alameda, and as a single and united unit commanding a far greater influence in national affairs, its representatives in the legislature proving most effective in protecting the interests of and adding all locations.

Whereas, the voters of the outside territory were informed in a circular letter sent out by the Oakland Charter League prior to the last charter election that "the taxes of a county composed of Alameda City, Hayward, Pleasanton, Livermore and the surrounding unincorporated territory would be $8.00 on the $100 of assessed valuation," thus inflicting the entire burden of keeping up the roads leading into Oakland would be put upon the outside districts.

Whereas, we do not believe that a majority of the fair-minded and progressive citizens of Oakland, recognizing the advantages and necessity of co-operation and good feeling between the county districts and the city, will favor a scheme of county division which will place upon the citizens of the up-country district the entire burden of the building and up-keep of county roads, bridges and culverts, leading into the city of Oakland and advantageous and necessary to the prosperity of that community.

MEETING UNANIMOUSLY OPPOSED.

Whereas, all manner of complications will be likely to arise as a result of division—such as the distribution and payment of equitable shares

Cold Grips State Bay Shivering Snow in South

The temperature of 23 degrees was recorded in Oakland last night, the coldest weather this city has experienced in twenty-eight years. At Berkeley, according to figures given out at the University of California, during the night the mercury dropped to 23.5 degrees, the lowest recorded there for many years.

Ice was visible in San Francisco bay near the Sixteenth street dock this morning and on ferry boats plying between Berkeley and San Francisco, it was necessary to scatter sand and sawdust about the decks so that the commuters could leave and board the boats. The decks were covered with sleet.

COLDEST WEATHER IN 28 YEARS.

The twenty-nine degrees registered here is the lowest, according to weather authorities, since January 21, 1894. The thermometer at Berkeley reached in Berkeley the coldest experience since January 6, 1913, when it was recorded at 27.7. The lowest mark occurred on January 14, 1918, when the mercury dropped to 24.5. These figures were given out by Burton M. Varney, in charge of this department at the university.

Freek winds early today blew down a door, giant locust trees on Estudillo avenue, San Leandro. Telephone wires were broken and considerable damage inflicted on fences and sidewalks.

Although low temperatures prevailed in southern California last night and early today, no damage was caused to fruit and vegetable crops, according to word received here today from that section. Because a wind was blowing it was said that dangerous weather conditions did not develop. The minimum southern California temperature was 31 degrees, recorded at Pomona. The temperature in the citrus belt ranged from 31 to 35 degrees. Snow fell at Redlands but melted in a few minutes.

"Clear and colder," however, was the forecast today for Los Angeles, and crops were not threatened at El Centro, according to word received from that place. A cold, blustery wind prevailed for the last twenty-four hours, but the temperature remained well above freezing.

COAST CITIES.

Marines were warned last night by the Weather Bureau to look out for northeast gales from San Francisco to Eureka and to keep their weather eyes peeled for a northwest blow anywhere between San Luis Obispo and San Diego.

The western portion of Washington, where rain or snow is predicted, and the coast line of Southern California are the only two sections along the Pacific seaboard between the Canadian and Mexican lines where freezing temperatures may not be expected during the coming 24 hours.

Temperature for the past 24 hours for California, as furnished by the Weather Bureau range from 14 at the top of Mount Wilson to 7 at San Diego and include the following: Red Bluff, 28; Sacramento, 28; Fresno, 28; San Francisco, 23; San Jose, 30; Santa Rosa, 23; Stockton, 28; Merced, 15; Lindsey, 23; Bakersfield, 22; Los Angeles, 42; San Bernardino, 37; Riverside, 33; Redlands, 34.

WINDMILLS OF ICE IN WINDMILL TANK.

George F. A. person, a rancher operating at the end of the Stanley road in Oakland, announced this morning that for the first time in eleven years he has found ice of considerable thickness in the tank attached to his windmill.

"The thickest ice coating heretofore has been five-eighths of an inch," said Anderson. "Today I measured a coating of two and one-half inches."

The only damage done by the storm in that section was the uprooting of a giant locust tree on the Hollywood property controlled by Breed & Bancroft.

ICE BREAKS WATER PIPES AT STOCKTON.

At Stockton there was thick ice and frozen and broken water pipes in every direction. Old residents said that last night was the coldest in many years. Ice one-eighth of an

Local Officials and Governor Welcome Delegates To Annual Convention of the California Association

Outline of Problems To Be Considered, Followed By President Reed's Report; Urge Home Campaign

The seventeenth annual convention of the California Real Estate Association opened today in the Ivory ballroom at the Hotel Oakland with more than 1000 delegates from every section of the state in attendance. The convention will end next Saturday.

Among the last delegations to arrive were those from Southern California. They arrived at the Sixteenth street depot shortly after 8 o'clock, and were taken in automobiles to convention headquarters. There were more than 200 real estate operators in this contingent.

WELCOME GIVEN BY LOCAL OFFICIALS.

The convention was opened by an invocation delivered by the Rev. John Snape, pastor of the First Baptist church. He was followed by city and county officials who extended official welcome to the visitors. Among these speakers were Mayor John L. Davis, W. J. Hamilton of the board of supervisors, and F. Bruce Malden, president of the Oakland Real Estate board.

After the submission of reports and the naming of committees on credentials, resolutions and nominations, the past presidents of the association were introduced to the gathering.

PROBLEMS PRESENTED TO CONVENTION.

This was followed by addresses from men active in real estate and land title circles, briefly outlining what it is expected will be accomplished by the convention and some of the pressing problems that must be met before it adjourns.

In addressing the convention Governor William D. Stephens declared that "when conducted squarely and with enthusiastic conservatism, there is no more honorable or satisfactory calling in the whole business category than that of the real estate agent, developer or broker."

"Standing, as I do this morning, in the presence of so many able and successful business men, I feel renewed satisfaction in the fact that the real estate and title business is being conducted with the same high standards of integrity and honesty that have made it a most honorable and profitable calling."

From observation and from my acquaintance with the men who are active in this business, I am convinced that when conducted squarely and with enthusiastic conservatism, there is no more honorable or satisfactory calling in the whole business category than that of the real estate agent, developer or broker."

Article 16, providing for limitation of Pacific fortifications, and naval bases, is omitted temporarily, waiting upon Japan's answer as to its acceptability.

SCRAPPING CHARTER WITH EXACTING DETAIL.

How the great naval powers will scrap the proud of their fighting ships has been charted with exacting detail in an annex to the treaty. Definite provisions also have been made for replacements. The chart obtained today by the United Press shows America must scrap 31 vessels when the treaty is effective: Great Britain, 22; as well as abandoning her projected building program.

After the first big batch of ships is scrapped, America scraps one ship until 1924, when Britain scrap four more in 1925, and begins anew on scrapping in 1924, while Japan, after her first scrapping, does none until 1924.

HERE ARE JUNKING RULES FOR AMERICA.

The Pennsylvania, New Mexico and Tennessee, America's largest ships actually in service, will remain until 1927, 1930 and 1940, respectively, while two of the most modern ships, the Colorado and the Washington, which are to be completed this year, will go to the junk pile in 1925.

The first great group of American ships to go to Davy Jones' locker, all of which will be scrapped this year, are the Maine, Missouri, Virginia, Georgia, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Louisiana, Vermont, Kansas, Minnesota, New Hampshire, South Carolina, Michigan, South Dakota, Indiana, Montana, North Carolina, Iowa, Massachusetts, Delaware, North Dakota, the uncompleted battle cruisers Lexington, Constitution, Constellation, Saratoga, Ranger, United States.

Among the better known of the British ships, the following go to the scrap heap this year: King George V, 1923; Elizabeth, 1925; Royal Sovereign, 1928; Renown, 1940; First Hood, 1941.

France and Italy start replacing in 1927, before the end of the naval holiday. Italy is chartered for a 45,000-ton ship—the largest in the world—for 1932. This extra tonnage will be offset by a 25,000-ton ship in 1932, but it is believed there is an error in compilation there.

Pope's Condition Improves; Fever Reported Lower

ROME, Jan. 19.—Pope Benedict, who suffered from severe bronchial attack and possibly a touch of influenza yesterday, was considerably improved today, his physician informed the United Press.

Dr. Battistini, who visited the pope with Dr. Masciaroli, denied alarmist rumors regarding his holiness. The Gazette del Popolo of Turin today declared the pope was suffering from influenza.

Physicians, however, said they found the pope's fever, which was 103 on Wednesday, lowering appreciably and "general conditions bettering."

Considerable anxiety was felt today in church circles despite more favorable reports.

The visit of King Albert to Rome later in the month may be postponed as a result of the pope's illness. Arrangements had been made for the king to be received at the Vatican.

Professor Marchiafave, the most celebrated physician in Italy, was called into consultation. He ordered the pontiff to take a complete rest. Despite fits of coughing, pains in chest and general weakness, the pope remains cheerful.

NAVY PACT BASED ON JAPAN'S PRIDE

Ratio Omitted Because Tokyo Sensitive Regarding Relative Strength.

By CARL D. GROAT, United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Reference to the 5-5-3-1.75-1.75 capital ship ratio has been omitted in the final draft of the naval treaty, the United Press learned today.

Omission of the actual ratio was due to Japanese sensitiveness, the Japanese holding this would tend to give an air of inferiority to their nation. The ratio, however, is directly provided for by specific figures on total tonnage.

The treaty, according to its preamble, is based upon a desire for "maintenance of general peace" and for reduction of armament competition.

TREATY IS DIVIDED INTO THREE CHAPTERS.

Then follows the treaty proper, divided into three chapters. The first, containing twenty articles, the second is divided into four parts—capital ships to be retained, rules for scrapping, replacement and definitions.

Chapter three, with miscellaneous provisions, contains the articles relative to common action in case of desired modification of the treaty and in case of a power becoming involved in war.

The articles dealing with capital ship tonnage is No. 4 in chapter 1, and reads:

"The total capital ship replacement tonnage of each of the contracting powers shall not exceed in standard displacement, for the United States, 35,000 tons (33,000 metric tons); for the British, 35,000 tons (33,000 metric tons); for France, 35,000 tons (33,000 metric tons); for Italy, 35,000 tons (33,000 metric tons); for Japan, 35,000 tons (33,000 metric tons)."

Article 16, providing for limitation of Pacific fortifications, and naval bases, is omitted temporarily, waiting upon Japan's answer as to its acceptability.

GRAHAM RICE ARRESTED IN STOCK CASE

Rich Broker Surrenders On Warrant Asked Last June By Oaklander; Advice in Salt Lake Letter Cited

Accused to Fight Charge to Finish; Just Spite Work. He States; Arraigned and Released On $1000 Bail

George Graham Rice, wealthy bond broker of Salt Lake City, charged with violating the corporate securities act, surrendered himself this morning to Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley.

Rice was accompanied by his attorney, Charles M. Fickert, former district attorney of San Francisco. After the warrant was served by McSorley Rice was released on the deposit of $1000 cash.

The warrant on which Rice was arrested was sworn to by J. H. Harrison, an employee of the California Cotton Mills. According to the police it is based on a circular letter which advised people to invest in Bingham-Galena mining stock. The letter is also alleged to have stated that they would recoup their losses in the Broken Hills mining stock.

LETTERS QUOTE RICE. POLICE CHARGE.

The letters, according to the police, were sent out by a stock company in Salt Lake City and in the letter it quoted Rice as saying it was a good investment.

Rice, in discussing the case, said: "If such a letter was sent out to residents of this city I did not have anything to do with it. If my name was used as I have been informed it was it was without my permission. The warrant for my arrest is simply a matter of spite work. I am accused of selling stock in the city of Oakland on June 22, 1921, without a permit from the California commissioner of corporations."

"I HAVE COME TO FIGHT CASE TO A FINISHER."

At the time that I am accused of selling the stock I was in Salt Lake City. I have come here to fight the case to a finish. I was in no way connected with the transaction and I am not guilty."

Rice stated that he and his attorney were going to see District Attorney Ezra Decoto and ask for warrants charging Harrison, the complaining witness, with perjury, and E. C. Boston, deputy commissioner of corporations for California, with subornation of perjury.

Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue said Rice would be arraigned tomorrow before Police Judge Mortimer Smith. An early date will be set for the preliminary examination.

The warrant for the arrest of Rice was sworn to on June 22. At the same time P. W. Wolpert, alias an employee of the California Cotton Mills, swore out a warrant against Child, Barclay & Co. of Salt Lake City, which company is alleged to have sent out the circular letter.

Reform Evangelist Expelled By Town

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SALIDA, Colo., Jan. 19.—The Rev. James W. Knapp, evangelist, and Ralph R. Mitchell, choir leader, who have been holding revival meetings here, were kidnapped while on their way to their hotel last night by a mob of about 50 men. They were taken in an automobile to Weir, where they were thrown out and informed by the masked men that "the boys of Salida can have wine, women and song if they want it without interference from any sky pilots from Denver."

The evangelist has been preaching against alleged immoral conditions here.

Cold Spell Halts

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—Miss Zoy Provost was suddenly recalled from the stand today when the prosecution declared that it was "surprised at her testimony" in the manslaughter trial of Rosecoe C. Arbutnot.

Arbutnot, who was charged with the slaying of a woman, was acquitted today. Miss Provost testified that she did not remember a number of salient points in her testimony at a previous trial of this action.

The cold weather which is sweeping the state had the effect of halting the trial early in the day until the jurors' overcoats could be brought to them from the jury room.

Merced Water Deal Closed At $2,250,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The Crocker-Huffman Land and Water company today sold for $2,250,000 today to the Merced Irrigation district.

The Merced Irrigation district consists of 400 miles of canals and other property in Merced county. The acreage of the district will be increased by 30,000 additional acres and a dam 200 feet high on the Merced river, near Eschewer.

The deal for the Crocker-Huffman Land and Water company was consummated by S. F. H. Morse and Walter Wagner, manager, handled the sale for the district.

BAY POINT BLOCK WOMAN RESCUED RAZED BY FLAMES AS HOME BURNS

Spectacular Fire in S. F. Is Accompanied By Brave Rescues; Water Frozen.

Mrs. C. L. Knapp Carried Out By Neighbor; Residence Is Destroyed.

BAY POINT, Jan. 19.—Fire, which broke out in a vacant building here at 2 a. m., destroyed a block in the business section and for a while threatened to wipe out the entire village. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

The buildings burned down were the general store of L. Cleveland, the Lanol Pool room and two vacant buildings.

Every resident was routed out to help fight the fire.

The fire took from Martinez on its way here to combat the fire, struck a horse in the road, and John Marolone, a fireman, was badly injured. The truck returned with him to the Martinez hospital, where he was still unconscious late today, and promised to the fire.

The fire was discovered by a watchman. It had apparently started in the basement, and by the time he had turned in an alarm, had spread through the two vacant buildings. A few minutes later the entire block was a mass of flames.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Two alarms of fire in the thickly populated district caused excitement early today and sent scores of shivering men, women and children into the street in their night robes. There were several spectacular rescues and one person suffered no prompt work of rescue.

The first fire occurred at 1:50 a. m. in the lodging house conducted by Tony Amario, 2514 Third street. It was caused by a faulty gas fit. It quickly spread to an adjoining rooming house run by B. D. Correy. Amario, after summoning the fire department, put in a call for the police, and Patrolman John O'Leary responded, first carried to safety Mrs. Amario, wife of the proprietor, and her 1-year-old baby girl. Patricia O'Leary of truck company No. 8, rescued an aged man in the house at 2504 Third street.

And during the excitement another man leaped out of a window at the same place. Neither was hurt. The blaze was confined chiefly to the area between the two buildings and was extinguished without unusual damage.

The second fire occurred shortly before 7 o'clock in an apartment house at 1312 California street. The occupants were roused and hurried to places of safety. Sparks from a chimney are believed to have caused the blaze, which was extinguished with chemical damage. The house is owned and managed by Mrs. James S. Giffen.

Fire fighters had a new experience shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, when a fire was frozen in the house as they attempted to play a stream on the roof of the residence of Fulton Taylor, 2131 Broadway. Sparks from a chimney had set the roof ablaze. When the streamer responded they found the icy water congealed in the line.

BERLIN MUST PAY, PLEDGE OF POINCARE

Versailles Treaty Not Open To Debate, Declares New French Premier in Statement of Cabinet Policies

Retain American Friendship. He Urges; Right to Extend Rhine Occupation Claimed—Further Penalties Hinted

PARIS, Jan. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The new Poincare government was given a vote of confidence by the chamber of deputies this afternoon. The vote was 472 to 107.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—"The details of the treaty of Versailles made by the chamber of deputies this afternoon, 'declared a former Premier, 'equally a speech this afternoon. 'It is not a question of clemency toward Germany; the nations are interdependent in this world.'"

By WEBB MILLER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Maintenance of close relations with America and an uncompromising attitude toward Germany are the salient features of Premier Raymond Poincare's policy.

Poincare outlined his platform to the chamber of deputies in a speech today just before calling for a vote of confidence in his ministry, formed after the resignation of Premier Briand.

Poincare was wildly cheered as he made his speech. The deputies leaped to their feet, applauding and shouting.

"We must maintain the most friendly relations, especially with the United States, which contributed so much to the victory and has just given in the Washington conference striking proofs of noble sentiments," the premier said.

By FRANK E. MASON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—"Germany must pay" was the keynote of the new French government's declaration of policy read to the chamber of deputies this afternoon by Raymond Poincare.

The attitude of the new cabinet is aggressive and strongly nationalistic. The chief points are: Germany must fulfill all her indemnity obligations at once.

Reparations dominates the economic recovery of Europe. If it is discovered that Germany is evading payments an allied country should be sent to Berlin to supervise strictly all German finances.

Germany must punish her war criminals in a manner to fit the demands of justice.

France has the right to impose new penalties upon Germany to enforce their demands.

France has the right to postpone evacuation of the Rhineland.

France will continue to participate in the league of nations.

France will not accept the invitation to attend the international economic conference at Genoa unless all nations accept the protocol on reparations laid down at Cannes.

The clauses of the Versailles treaty are not open to debate at Genoa or elsewhere.

If there is an Anglo-French treaty of alliance, France must enter on an equal footing with England.

Reorganization of the national military defense.

Reduction of the term of military service.

Enforcement of complete disarmament of Germany.

Proposal to reach an agreement with Great Britain and Italy to present a renewal of warfare between the Greeks and Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor.

Recognition of Angora peace (Angora being the seat of the Turkish Nationalist government.)

Government would be conducted economically.

SHAMELESS PROPAGANDA ABROAD, IS CHARGED.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Respect for the treaties that fixed the peace terms is the platform Premier Poincare decided to present to the cabinet before the chamber of deputies this afternoon. The declaration blames shameless propaganda for the picture drawn abroad of France as "tainted with a sort of imperialistic madness."

CLUB TOLD DIVISION COST

BRANCH OF UNITY CLUB IS FORMED AFTER MEETING

Carlos White Tells Residents Expense to Which City Would Be Put.

ment would remain. Take our tax bills, citizens of Oakland, for the year 1921 and read them. What do they show? That the cost of the city government is $2.25. That would remain.

"Secondly, in addition to the cost of the city government the cost of the Oakland schools would remain. Again, citizens of Oakland, take our tax bills, but this time look at our county tax bills. There is collected on our county tax bill $2.66, but if you will look at the summary of items stamped on it, you will see of what the $2.66 is composed and while the county collects $2.66 many of our citizens will be surprised to discover that $1.80 and 6 mills is not for any county purpose whatsoever but solely for the support and maintenance of the Oakland city schools. The $1.80 for the support of the Oakland schools would remain to be paid.

"Out of the total of $4.91 collected, only 85 cents and 4 mills represents the entire cost of the county government. Therefore $4.06 of the tax rate is the cost of the Oakland city and of the Oakland schools.

"In other words, if we entirely did away with all county government and all the activities and expenses of Alameda county, our tax rate could only be reduced 85 cents, and there would remain the 4 mills tax rate. But unfortunately for the argument of those who believe county division would mean tax reduction, it is absolutely impossible to do away with all the costs and expenses that are paid out of the 85 cents of county taxes.

"County separation would, it is true, eliminate a few offices that are duplicated both in the city and county government.

ADDITIONAL COSTS.

"In addition to paying the entire cost of the city government and the entire cost of the Oakland schools, the taxpayers of the new city and county would have to pay the entire cost of the county clerk's office, and of the sheriff's office of the district attorney's office, of the public administrator's office, of the coroner's office, the entire expenses of the probation officers, the entire expense of the county jail, the entire expenses of the detention home, expenses that are now borne by the county as a whole.

"In addition to this, the new city and county of Oakland would have to pay all the widows' pensions affecting Oakland, Piedmont, and Emeryville, which under the state law are now paid out of the county tax of 85 cents. The relief of the poor, who are taken care of by the county orders for the indigent would, insofar as the poor were included in the territory of the city and county of Oakland, have to be taken care of by the new city and county of Oakland alone, as would also the annual maintenance of the county hospital, and of the welfare council, and Oakland's share of the Arroyo sanitarium for tuberculosis near Livermore, and also the annual maintenance of the New Highland hospital in East Oakland.

"If the county were separated, the new city and county of Oakland would embrace the most congested territory—would embrace the principal centers of population and from this territory we are informed approximately 85 per cent of the patients of the county hospital come, approximately 85 per cent of the cases of poverty are found, approximately 85 per cent of the tuberculosis cases arise. In the territory which would be embraced in the separated city and county, we are informed, over 80 per cent of the widows reside whose support would have to be paid by the new city and county under the state law.

"My examination into the facts leads me to believe that we would not eliminate by county division more than 20 per cent of the entire expenses of the county government, nor more than one-fifth of the sum raised by the county as a whole on the 85-cent county tax rate.

TAXABLE PROPERTY LOST.

"A tax rate is determined by two things: By the total amount of the governmental expense and the total valuation of the property over which this burden of expense must be distributed. It must be plain, therefore, that if we only eliminated 20 per cent of our county expense we cannot expect a tax reduction if at the same time we are eliminating 20 per cent or more of the property that is now carrying this burden. What are the facts in this respect? I believe that the citizens of Oakland would be astounded when they realize the full import of county division. If the citizens of Oakland should be so unfortunate as to permit county division, we would have left in Oakland, Emeryville and Piedmont, the new city and county, only $173,712,577 worth of taxable property, and we would be separating from ourselves taxable property assessed during the present year and paying its full share of the burden—$101,139,355 worth of taxable property.

"Citizens of Oakland, do you realize that we are being asked to separate ourselves from $101,000,000 worth of property that is now helping us to carry the burdens of our county government? Do you realize that in addition to the costs of our Oakland city government, and in addition to the costs of our Oakland schools, that the $173,000,000 worth of property embraced in Oakland, Emeryville and Piedmont, which is only 63 per cent of the taxable property of the county, would have to assume 80 per cent of the burden that is now being carried by the entire county embracing the $101,000,000 worth of property outside of the limits of the proposed new city and county of Oakland? Do you realize that the property that would not be included in the new city and county government is now on the basis of the county tax rate of 85 cents and 4 mills contributing to the county expenses $83,730 in helping us carry the burden? It must be clear to any thinking man that if we reduce our county expenses only 20 per cent, we reduce the income nearly 40 per cent, we are worse off.

RATE WOULD BE $5.43.

"Expert public accountants have gone over the figures in far greater detail than it is possible to outline in a talk of this sort, and we are assured that instead of a reduction in taxes we would have to add on to the $4.91 which represents our Oakland city taxes and our Oakland school taxes which would remain, an added sum which, when we distribute it only over the limited territory of the proposed city and county of Oakland, would bring the minimum tax rate for the city and county of Oakland up to the sum of $5.43 instead of the present rate of $4.91, a minimum increase in our taxes of 10 cents.

"But whatever the exact figures may be, it does not take an expert accountant to understand that if we reduce our present city tax burdens, our own shares of the widows' pensions, of the county hospital expenses, of the Arroyo sanitarium expenses, of the Highland hospital expenses, and the expenses of caring for the poor of our new city and county of Oakland, and add to that the expense of all the county offices and officers that are not eliminated but which are retained in the proposed city and county charter, we will have to add to the Oakland tax rate of $4.91 that now only pays for our Oakland city government and for our Oakland schools, a very considerable sum greater than the sum which would be eliminated by doing away with duplicate offices. This is true for the simple reason that only $173,000,000 worth of taxable property would have to carry alone the burden which has heretofore been carried in conjunction with the $101,000,000 worth of taxable property which we are asked to separate ourselves on February 7th.

"While we are on the subject of the financial results that would be occasioned by a division of Alameda county into three or more cities, we must not overlook the confusion, disorder and expense that would be occasioned by the division of the county records and the county properties.

"I am sure that very few here, if any, know what Article II of the State Constitution provides. The Constitution itself reads as follows: 'If the population in the territory formed into a city or county, by separation from the original county, is equal to or greater in number than two-thirds of the population of the whole of the original county at the time of the formation of such city and county, the city and county so formed and separating itself from the original county, shall be entitled to the original records and books of the original county, upon supplying to the original county certified copies of all records, documents and books properly bound and indexed, which shall be able to keep the original county records, or which it may in the future have occasion to refer to; and such certified copies so furnished and certified by the county clerk, if the copies are requested from his office, and by the recorder if they are requested from his office, or by any other officer of the county if they be copies of the records of his office, shall be competent as evidence in any court proceeding or action which may thereafter be commenced.'

RECORDS FORFEITED.

"This means if at the time of the separation Oakland, Piedmont and Emeryville should have two-thirds of the population of the county, we would be able to keep the original county records, but must furnish to Berkeley, Alameda and the rest of the county, certified copies of all original records and books that would affect the balance of the county. We would be able to keep the original copies of all records, the Constitution provides, which the balance of the county might in the future have occasion to refer to.

however, at the present time, according to the census reports, Oakland, Emeryville and Piedmont do not embrace two-thirds of the population of the county, but only about 66 per cent of our population. Therefore, under the terms of the State Constitution, we would appear that all the county records, all the records affecting the title to each and every tract embraced in Oakland, Piedmont and Emeryville, would be removed from Oakland to the new county seat of Alameda county, and the citizens of Oakland, Oakland and Emeryville would be deprived of the records of their own city and county. It would have to reproduce all original records, maps, records of deeds and the like belonging to the territory of the new city and county of Oakland.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

"By personal investigation I ascertained that there are over six thousand volumes in the recorder's office containing each from 480 to 700 pages, or over three million pages in all. To reproduce, compare, index and bind these records would cost, I am told, from $20 to $100 a page. To reproduce the records simply affecting the new city and county would mean an additional expense to the taxpayer over a million dollars, to say the least.

"But this is not all, for we would have to add to that cost also the expense of the long drawn out litigation and confusion that would be involved in determining the rights of the new city and county, and the rights of Berkeley, and the rights of the rest of Alameda county respecting the Court House property, the Hall of Records property, the receiving hospital property, the new Highland hospital that is being built in East Oakland, the County Hospital property outside the city limits, the Arroyo Sanitarium, the Detention Home, the County Jail and the like. Confusion, disorder and expense would result.

"Oakland, as far back as the memory of most of my hearers is concerned, has always been the county seat of the great county of Alameda, a county that is just coming into its own. This is the dearest and to be one of the greatest counties in the whole world.

"Do you not realize what it must mean to the professional man, to the merchant and to the Oakland property owner to be the county seat of so great a county as the county of Alameda?

SAN FRANCISCO CHAINED.

"Is any property owner so short sighted as not to realize that less business for the Oakland merchants and professional men does not mean to the value of his property? Is any employee so unconcerned with his position as not to realize that county division with its certain decrease of business in Oakland does not add to the security of his position? It seems to me that the financial interest of each and every one of us, whether we be professional men, merchants, employees or property owners and taxpayers, or whatever our interests may be, requires that for our own protection we repudiate a positive 'No' at the polls on February 7.

"Years ago the citizens of San Francisco had an opportunity to separate themselves from San Mateo county. At that time the population of San Francisco was estimated at the population of any other city in the West. A line was drawn at a point beyond which the citizens of San Francisco were told they would never care to develop their city and county, and San Francisco did separate itself from San Mateo county.

"Today San Francisco is chained and bound within a dead line established by its own citizens."

League To Discuss County Division

The Big Sisters of the Public Welfare League will meet Friday afternoon, 2 to 4, at the Young Women's Christian Association, 1515 Webster street, Oakland.

Plans for the program include an open forum discussion on these provisions in the proposed county division charter which have to do with social welfare.

Attorney R. H. Chamberlain Jr., who was secretary to the board of freeholders that drew up the charter, will sustain the affirmative, while the negative will be presented by Attorney Fred V. Wood, representing the Anti-Division League.

Another number on the program is an informal talk by R. L. Lindorth, who represents the State Board of Pharmacy locally in its prosecutions for violations of the State Poison Act. He will relate some of the recent triumphs of law enforcement in local courts and will discuss some of the obstacles which are encountered in the effort to secure narcotic control.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to keep young. To do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion, dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you that 90 per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective.
They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and

FORDNEY TARIFF BILL PASSAGE IS DECLARED URGENT

State Manufacturers Meet and Favor Inclusion of Valuation Clause.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Immediate passage of the Fordney tariff bill with the inclusion of the American valuation clause will be urged as a result of a mass meeting of more than a hundred manufacturers from all parts of the state at the Palace Hotel last night.

Committees to urge the movement were selected and a resolution asking speedy action on the tariff question was adopted. Copies of this resolution were forwarded today to President Harding, and senators and representatives from California.

The officers elected to head the newly formed organization, the American Valuation Association, follow: Clarence M. Odde, chairman; W.
L. Moreland, president of the Moreland Motor Truck Company, Los Angeles; J. R. Millar, vice-president and general manager of the California Cotton Mills Company; John T.
Roberts, vice-president of the Stockton Fire Brick Company, Stockton; and Louis Bloch, vice-president of the general manager of the Crown-Williamette Paper Company.

COMMITTEES CHOSEN.

The following committees were named:

Executive committee: J. F. Carlson, president Central National Bank, Oakland, California; Philip S.
Teller, president Norton Teller & Co.,
Inc., San Francisco; E. O. Schreyer, local manager General Electric Company, San Francisco; F. H. Wallihan, Edison Electric Appliance Company,
Ontario; T. W. Norris, president Coast Manufacturing & Supply Company, Livermore; F. D. Parsons, general superintendent Judson Manufacturing Company, Emeryville.

Committee on ways and means—J.
R. Millar, California Cotton Mills,
Oakland; W. A. Knowles, Merchants'
Exchange, Oakland; Archie I. Block,
H. & I. Block Co.

dore Romney, Oxwold Acetylene Co.

WOULD PROTECT INDUSTRY.

Clarence M. Odde, western representative of the American Valuation Association, presided at the meeting and addresses were made by former Governor James N. Gillett, John R.
Millar, general manager of the California Cotton Mills and president of the California Manufacturers' Association, and F. D. Parsons, superintendent of the Judson Manufacturing Co., Emeryville.

"Make tariff revenues to the government certain, prevent fraud on the part of the importers by undervaluation, treat all foreign countries alike in respect to their imports, protect all of our own industries, and of paramount importance, protect the American working man and woman in industry from the disastrous condition now facing the country through the flood of cheap imports based on low wage costs abroad and low exchange rates, which are actively competing with American commodities," urged former Governor Gillett.

SISTERHOOD DANCE.

The ball to be given by the Sisterhood of Temple Sinai at the Oakland municipal auditorium, January 26, promises to be most enjoyable. The women in charge are bending every effort toward making the ball a success.

Mrs. Nat Kessler and Mrs. Leonard Meltzer, in charge of music, have secured a large orchestra. There will be a musical entertainment, dancing and cards for those who do not wish to dance. The ball is open to the general public.

WILL ADDRESS RESERVES.

J. S. Mills, manager of the Berkeley branch of the First Savings Bank of Oakland, will give an address tonight to the officers and men of the naval reserve force in court room No.
2 of the Oakland city hall. His subject will be "The Early Days in the Naval Reserve Force." Mills is a veteran of the reserves from the days when they trained on the "square riggers" and served on the U. S. S.
Marion.

ADMIRAL KISSES TAXI DRIVER AS PARISIANS GASP

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Passers-by on the boulevards were surprised recently to see a distinguished looking man fall on the back of a taxicab driver and kiss him on both cheeks, the regulation salutation between Russians. The passenger was a Russian admiral and the chauffeur was a former Russian general celebrated during the first period of the war, now, earning his living by driving a taxicab.

Students who take their meals in a very modest boarding house in the Latin quarter had a similar surprise recently. As the serving woman, a woman of middle age whose worn garments could not conceal her distinguished appearance, approached a table, a young girl student suddenly arose, knelt on one knee and kissed the hem of the waitress' apron. The student had recognized her as a former lady in waiting of the Russian court.

BOOZE RUNNING DISCOVERED AS BOATS COLLIDE

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—When the motor schooner Bartha A was run down by the British steamship Shear Field, and was forced to put into quarantine late yesterday, federal officials claim they found 1000 packages of liquor in her hold, and evidence that the craft has been engaged in extensive rum running operations.
Customs officials seized the vessel and arrested Captain Charles Lake and Victor Mattson of the crew as violators of the Volstead act.

Had it not been for the accident, officers declared, the craft would have remained anchored off the highlands until emptied of liquors by small craft operated by local bootleggers.

Jury Holds Child's Death Avoidable

SAN BRUNO, Jan. 19.—The inquest over the death of Dolly Matthieson, 3 years old, who was run down and killed here Monday while crossing the street to meet her mother, was held last night, and the jury returned a verdict declaring the accident avoidable. The child was run down by an automobile driven by Harry Cookson, chauffeur for R.
V. Salisbury, living at San Mateo.
Mrs. Salisbury was in the machine at the time. Cookson is at liberty without bail.

Apartment Owners Appoint Committees

Committees were appointed by the Apartment House Association at the regular monthly meeting last night in the Hotel Oakland, to investigate the garbage problem in Berkeley and the new elevator laws proposed by the State Industrial Accident Commission. L. P. Mullaly presided at the meeting, which was addressed by C. C. Newkirk, sanitary engineer of Berkeley. Newkirk stated in regard to the association's former protes-tation that the new service will be more efficient and economical.

TRAFFIC MISHAP VICTIM IS DEAD

Jack Hallett, 19 years old, died last night at the Emergency Hospital from injuries received when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with a motor truck driven by Joseph Epstein.

The accident occurred at Seventh and Jackson street. Hallett was employed in the store department of the Southern Pacific company and resides at 1109 Oak street. Epstein resides at 701 Jackson street.

POLES RESTORE COUNT'S 13,000- ACRE ESTATE

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 13.—An ancestral estate in Poland of 13,000 acres valued at $10,000,000 has been restored to Count F. H. Hryniewicki, 70, and for ten years clerk of the provincial police court here. The count has been notified by the Polish government.

The estate was confiscated by Russians when that country conquered Poland and was restored in conformity with the Versailles treaty.

TWENTY DEATHS IN STORM.
VIGO, Spain, Jan. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Twenty deaths are reported to have resulted from the storm which broke in this region Tuesday night. Most of those who perished were in small boats which capsized. The wharves of Vigo were badly damaged.

College Women Will Oppose Book Tariff

By EDNA B. KINARD.
The Federal bill, which would impose a duty on foreign books and scientific instruments so heavy as to affect their use by individuals, schools, colleges and libraries will be considered seriously by the San Francisco Bay branch of the American Association of College Women when the members assemble on Saturday, January 28. The national secretary has made a formal recommendation to the local university women that they oppose that section of the Fordney tariff bill which relates to this subject. Its discussion will be an important feature of the business meeting.

Miss Mary Floyd Williams Ph. D., who has one of the valuable publications on California history to her credit, will be the guest of honor and speaker at the January luncheon, which is announced at Hotel White-cotton in Berkeley. The vigilance committee of 1861 will lend the subject for Miss Williams's address.

Mrs. H. A. Kluegel has been made chairman of a national clubhouse committee. Associated with her in this project are: Mrs. Frederick Paulkner, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Mrs. William Palmer Lucas, Mrs. J. H. Steinhardt, Miss Frances McLean, Miss Mabel Pierce, Mrs. C. W. Slack.

The proposals relating to social welfare in the charter which will be offered the citizens of Alameda county, permitting Oakland to carve itself from the rest of the territory in a separate city and county government will be discussed tomorrow by the Big Sisters of the Public Welfare League. The speakers will take up the subject of the metropolitan council, city manager and police department, including the proposed women's division, municipal court, civil service board, department of public health, hospitals, social welfare and recreation commission.

R. H. Chamberlain Jr., speaking on behalf of county division and Fred V. Wood, opposing it, will be the principal speakers.

R. H. Linforth, representative of the State Board of Pharmacy, will discuss the state's prosecutions for violations of the state poison act.

The Big Sisters meet at 2 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium.

With the annual pencil day of the Ladies' Relief Society definitely named for Saturday, April 29, the board of directors and those interested in the big benefit are busy with the preliminaries for the important event. Several thousand dollars are expected at the present time in the treasury of the pioneer philanthropic organization, which it is the desire of the leaders to add. Mrs. William Thornton White has been named general director and Mrs. Frederick P. Muhlenher her assistant. A large committee will be named later to assist.

Practical assistance in the unemployment crisis in Oakland will be rendered by Lakeview Club women, who have announced a large card party for Tuesday evening, January 24, in St. Paul's parish house. The entire proceeds will be appropriated to the fund administered by W. H. Goodrich of the municipal yardyard. Any person in Oakland who enjoys a game of cards and finds satisfaction in contributing to the relief fund is invited to telephone Mrs. C. D. Collins, Oakland 3513, for reservations.

The clubwomen have placed many men in employment during the winter in the local high school with food and clothing over the holidays.

A $50 scholarship has been awarded one young woman student in the local high school who otherwise would be obliged to curtail her studies by Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs. In addition to the substantial assistance they are giving to the needy within the neighborhood families, the mothers this week appropriated $55 to the employment fund administered by the municipal yardyard.

Oakland Federation has an enrollment of 2158 women, according to the report of the membership chairman, Mrs. Jack Walker. She has set 10,000 members as the goal before the first of March.

Joffre was made marshal of France in 1917 and became one of the Forty Immortals in 1918. He was born in 1852.

Hostesses at Tea in Eastbay Homes

Two interesting teas given this afternoon were sponsored by Eastbay hostesses. One was at the home of Mrs. Leland Stanford Scott whose attractive residence in Ashmount Avenue was the rendezvous for seventy-five of the younger girls and married set, many calling from the Rialto city.

Miss Vera Lewis one of the debutantes set now a resident of the Hotel Claremont, was hostess to a score or more of her friends, honoring Miss Leonore Pfister bride-elect of John Stuart Gordon.

Miss Pfister will be the guest of honor tomorrow afternoon of Mrs. Francis Shook, when a group of friends of the bride-elect have been bidden for luncheon.

Another bridge on for tomorrow is that at which Mrs. Percy Clay Black will be hostess. Mrs. Frederick Wolfe to be the honoree. Mrs. Black will entertain at her home in Piedmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Bacon are to sail for the Orient to make their home tomorrow arriving in San Francisco from the south. The bride was Miss Dorothy Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Spence of Los Angeles. Mrs. Bacon is a graduate of the University of California and a member of the Delta Gamma society.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Allen of New York who have been visiting their relatives throughout the Christmas season, left this week for their eastern home. They were a part of the Gardner Williams family group over the bay.

ARRIVE FROM WASHINGTON, D. C.

New arrivals in Piedmont are Colonel Lawrence Curtis (retired) and Mrs. Curtis who, with their children have come from Washington, D. C. Mrs. Curtis was Miss Mabel Kent. Their new home is situated in Indian Rock Road, in the Thousand Oaks District. Miss Barbara Curtis has already entered the University of California.

Other newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Wolfe, who have come from Java to establish their home on the western coast.

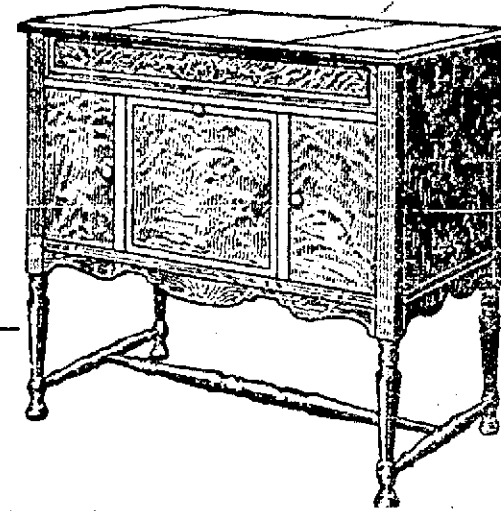

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Davis Porter are the parents of a son, born Tuesday morning at the Eastbay Sanatorium in this city. Mrs. Porter was Miss Katherine Kessler. This Simple Way To Take Off Fat

There can be nothing simpler than taking a couple of little tablets four times each day until your weight is reduced to normal. That's all that's needed in a case of Marma's Pile-Expeller Tablets from your druggist for one dollar. The same price the world over. Follow directions—no starvation dieting or tireless exercising. Eat whatever you like as long as you like and keep on getting slimmer. And the best part of Marma's Tablets is they are harmless. In your absolute strongest. Purchase them from your druggist, or send direct to Marma's Co., 3812 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.—Advertisement.

son, before sailing for Europe on February 18. Mrs. Wolfe's mother, Mrs. H. C. Turner, will also be one of the family group to greet her daughter in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Michaels have given up their home in Alameda and expect to move into the Alexander Heymann home which they recently purchased in San Francisco. They have also purchased a summer home at Atherton, a nine acre estate where they will spend much of their time. Miss Marie Louise Michaels has returned to Bryn Mawr from which she will be graduated in May.

Many Oakland people have been recent visitors to Yosemite national park for the season of winter sports. The presence of a motion picture company at work on "location," with ten Alaskan dogs and two reindeer, provided interesting variety for guests during the last week. Sleights were run from the hotel to where the scenes were being filmed. Tobogganing and other winter sports continue to be enjoyed, the thrilling climb to Glacier point claiming more guests every day. As the Californians become accustomed to snow-shoes and ski they attempt other adventurous hikes and parties recently have been up the Merced river canyon to Vernal falls and up the valley wall on the north side as far as the foot of upper Yosemite falls. Among the visitors from Oakland recently have been Misses Margaret and Gertrude Wirth, Mr. and Mrs. Naimsmith and three children, Miss E. Hewie, Miss Bonhorn, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hewie, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. West, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gage and others. From Oakland the visitors were Mrs. S. E. Ruffin, Lester Rankin, Miss Sarah E. and Dorothy Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Fuller of Berkeley.

Oaklander Jailed On Bigamy Charge

C. R. Nelson, a bookkeeper, was arrested by Policemen J. J. Dunn and J. R. Leonard at his home, 815A Fifty-fifth street, on a warrant charging bigamy. The complaint was sworn to in Sacramento by Leonora Rooks of that city.

According to the police, Nelson was living with his wife and baby in this city.

DELIGHTFUL HAIR WASH

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist's a package of canthar and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dirt, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing the hair dries quickly with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

U. S. TO CONTINUE NEWS SERVICE ON NAVY RADIO

Senate Committee Extends Privileges of Concession For Five Years.

Word that the Senate committee on naval affairs has extended for the period of five years the privileges of the Pointdexter resolution, which permits the use of the United States navy wireless service for the transmission of news to and from the Orient, was received from Washington, D. C., yesterday by V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento Bee and a director of the Associated Press, who is at the Hotel Chancellor in San Francisco.

The original Pointdexter resolution was declared valid for two years in 1919, when McClatchy appeared before committees of both houses of Congress and stressed the fact that whereas the Atlantic coast possessed thirteen cables to Europe, the Pacific coast only had one cable to the Orient. This cable, which runs via Guam to Manila, is owned by a majority of British stockholders, McClatchy declares, and is frequently so congested that it is some three or four days to get a message across. McClatchy says that the rate for news on this cable is prohibitive, and that the news rate charged by privately owned Radio Corporation of America is equally high. McClatchy said:

"Under the Pointdexter resolution, the Pacific coast receives a news rate of six cents per word for the transmission of news through the United States naval wireless. This is one cent below the news rate charged by Atlantic coast cable companies for transmission to Europe.

The efficiency of the navy wireless was demonstrated in a striking manner during the recent World Press Congress at Honolulu, when the United States newspapers received and printed daily 8000 words of world news, all by United States navy wireless."

Picture the Future--and Prepare for It Now!

This is National Thrift Week. This week thousands of people, who never before realized their need for Financial Protection against the unknown future, will begin to spend money now to protect their later years.

Physical protection is only partial protection. Food and shelter are important, but sudden illness or the death of a wage earner creates an immediate and acute emergency that only a sum of money, readily available, can meet.

Why not have that sum of money—that Financial Protection—for yourself and your family? It need not be a burden. Instead, there is a real feeling of security and confidence that comes with it, making the small weekly or monthly payments a pleasure.

West Coast Life's staff of experts will tell you exactly how much Financial Protection you should have—based on your age, family, occupation and income. This report is made for you, individually, and you need only to write us a letter giving the information. Do it today. There is no obligation.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Herself Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass.—"I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimony for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHETTE SILVIA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story—one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pretty Soft to Turn Over in Bed, Touch a Button and Flood Your Home with Heat These Cold Mornings!

The Gleewood Gas Furnace

Equipped with either an ELECTRIC or DIRECT CONTROL will enable you to do this.

You have heard much of the GLEEWOOD and the sensation it caused this year.

Here are a few reasons—

It's economical features have been obtained by a greater radiating surface than has been obtained in any other Gas Furnace.

Its ease of operation—Quick, dry heat—Heat where you want it—No carrying or storing fuel—No running up and down stairs—No fumes can come in contact with the rooms as the products of combustion are carried off in exactly the same way as smoke in a Coal Furnace.

It radiates and reflects pure-heated air—ventilating the rooms at the same time.

Just ask a friend that has one—let him tell you the joy and pleasure he is getting.

Economically priced—Easily installed.

THIN FRAIL PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE TANLAC

Hundreds of Men and Women in Oakland Appear To Be Physical Wrecks Simply Because Their Systems Are Starving for Nourishment.

There are hundreds of thin, run-down, nervous men and women right here in Oakland who should be strong, sturdy and vigorous, with rich, red blood tingling through their veins and feeling brimful of life and energy, if they would only profit by the experience of others all over the United States and Canada, and assist nature to digest the food they eat, by simply taking Tanlac.

Millions of people have not only been relieved of the most obstinate forms of dyspepsia and indigestion by Tanlac after other remedies have failed, but large numbers of them have reported a remarkable and rapid increase in weight and a return to normal health and strength by its use.

In fact, so phenomenal have been the gains in weight by thin, frail people through the use of Tanlac that this remarkable preparation is now being proclaimed everywhere as the World's Greatest Tonic.

The food people eat does them absolutely no good unless they digest it properly. When you suffer from indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble, the food does you harm instead of good, because food which is not digested stays in the stomach and ferments, causing bloating, swelling, gas on stomach, shortness of breath, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness and many other disagreeable symptoms. If this condition is permitted to run on for an indefinite period the entire system becomes saturated with poisons, the patient becomes thin and pale and in time various complications are apt to result.

Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive tonic and quickly overcomes this condition by aiding Nature to eliminate the impurities from the system in a natural way and enable the vital organs to properly perform their functions. That is why it is called Nature's Medicine.

In fact, there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and imparting the entire system.

Next, it enables the weak, worn-out stomach to thoroughly digest its food and convert the nourishing elements into bone, blood and muscle. The result is you feel strong, sturdy and well with the proper amount of flesh, as Nature intended.

Tanlac is sold in Oakland by The Owl Drug Company and leading druggists everywhere. —Advertisement.

MAYOR BARTLETT TELLS RICHMOND OF HETCH HETCHY

Berkeley Mayor Urges Cheap Water as Best Means of Attracting Industries.

RICHMOND, Jan. 19. — "The Hetch Hetchy project, operated under the California water and power act, would solve all water problems on this side of the bay," Mayor Bartlett of Berkeley declared before the Berkeley industrial commission yesterday when various civic bodies, business and professional men and women discussed phases of city betterment. George Wall, president of the Richmond industrial commission, presided.

Mayor Bartlett set forth briefly the history of the Hetch Hetchy project. ALAMEDA IS CITED.

Bartlett lauded the California water and power act as the most important matter before the voters of the state at the election of November and urged its adoption as a matter of economy. Under the terms of the act, he pointed out, the water users will get water at cost. He referred to the vast saving to the people of Los Angeles through municipally owned water, Los Angeles selling water to the people at from one-quarter to one-third the price demanded by private companies. "The southerners buy the power at two-thirds what we pay in the bay region," Bartlett declared. "Alamedans now buy power at wholesale rates from 20 to 25 per cent less than the charge just to the estuary in Oakland, thanks to municipal ownership," Bartlett continued.

The Berkeley mayor reminded his hearers that the cheap water and power in Los Angeles handicapped the bay region in industrial development, since many industries which would locate around the bay if they could get cheap power, are forced to establish themselves in the south. "In 1900 the value of Los Angeles industrial products was $15,000,000," Mayor Bartlett said. "In 1920 the figures jumped to $75,000,000, almost all the great increase being recorded since 1917, when the municipality got city power and city water."

Rev. Paul Little, past commander of the Richmond Post, American Legion, and permanent chairman of the memorial building committee of the post, made an eloquent plea for cooperation in securing an appropriation from the board of supervisors for erection of the memorial building here.

NEW FACTORY COMING.
H. W. Wernse, secretary of the industrial commission, announced that a new factory would shortly be established here, an eastern concern, which will employ from 50 to 100 men to start, later to increase the force to 500.

"Much home building is coming within the next few months," Wernse said, "but to achieve best results it will be necessary to look to the beautification of our city." Systematic tree planting was suggested as a simple and effective way in which to beautify the city.

Judge L. H. Hall recited briefly the fate of the tree planting ordinance which the city council passed but the operation of which was discontinued after property owners in many instances declared they would not pay for the maintenance of trees on their property. "Lack of trees is a black eye to the city," Judge Hall declared. Judge Hall urged the re-districting of the county, as Richmond, with two-fifths of the county's assessed valuation within its borders, has but one supervisor.

Mrs. Marie L. Osborn, this city's only woman council member, agreed with Judge Hall's views on the tree planting ordinance.

H. A. Johnson, head of the Richmond Realty Board, declared that an "own your own home" campaign soon will be under way here.

Captain Convicted Of Buying Stolen Tires

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—A jury in the United States district court yesterday convicted Capt. David P. Miles on a charge of purchasing sixteen tires said to have been stolen. It is stated that the tires were taken from the motor transport warehouse at the Presidio. Miles is 25 years old.

PROHIBITION LAW FOR MEXICO IS CALLED LIKELY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 19. (By the Associated Press).—Possibility of prohibition in Mexico has been seriously considered in some quarters within the last few days, following the increase in government taxes on all alcoholic beverages from 16 to 32 per cent, that President Obregon has received numerous inquiries from industrial quarters requesting information. He has been asked as to what extent the government intends to prosecute its campaign for at least a diminution in the liquor traffic. El Universal says it is informed on high authority that the government is seeking "the most accessible means of imposing prohibition."

DIPLOMAS GIVEN IN OAKLAND HIGH AND UNIVERSITY

Graduation Exercises Are to Be Held at Lafayette and Fruitvale Tonight.

Graduation exercises will be held in two Oakland schools tonight. In two others pupils received their diplomas at programs conducted this afternoon. The schools where the exercises were held today are Lafayette high and the Golden Gate high, and tonight exercises will take place at the Lafayette and the Fruitvale schools.

Thirty-three students, members of the graduating class of the University high school, were presented with their diplomas and a program of music and speaking featured the exercises at that institution. An address was made by Dr. Charles L. Kloss and the University high school string quartet played some musical numbers. P. H. Boren, principal of the school, presented the graduating class and the diplomas were awarded by J. F. Chandler, a member of the Oakland board of education. The exercises were held in the Wheeler auditorium at the University of California.

Shoepkins were presented to forty scholars at the Golden Gate high school where graduation exercises were held today. The diplomas were presented by Chandler and an address was made by H. D. Brusselield. There was also music and community singing.

At the Lafayette school the exercises will be at 8 o'clock tonight and sixty-two pupils will be graduated, them so.

C. F. Gulick will present the diplomas. The program at the Fruitvale school will also be held this evening. If you see it in The TRIBUNE call it so.

Holding Husband

"You may be able to flash a poker face on other people, dear heart, but you can't play the game with me, any more than I can with you," he said. "Do you think I have studied every line of your face all these years for nothing? Nay, nay, my dear! You're as transparent as a window-pane to your beloved husband. I knew you wanted to get me into the appropriate mood for something or other when you proposed this trip. But I flatter myself I made you forget about everything except just US, with two capitals. 'Pess up, now.'"

I had my ashamed face against his shoulder, jarred out of my bliss not only by his discovery of my manoeuvring, but by the fact that through the wonderful moments he had given me, had run his conscious effort to make me forget my purpose in coming to the beach. At least I had forgotten, but he had there been no spontaneity, no reality after all? His voice broke across my musings.

"Come on, tell your husband." I don't want to think I'm the only gaby in the family, and I'll tell you that if anybody had asked me my own name part of the time this last hour, I couldn't have answered correctly."

"HOW DID YOU KNOW?"

"Oh, Dicky!" I clung to him convulsively, the relief of his words bringing the quick tears to my eyes. "There isn't anything in the world for me tonight but you, just you. Now let's spoil the evening by talking about anything else."

"Yes, we will." There was obstinacy as well as tenderness in Dicky's tone. "I know your honest sense and self-respected pride of your work well enough to realize that nothing but a mighty big emergency would have set you off on this track tonight. You'd rather win your point on the Quensberry rules. So tell me what you want to make me learn. I'll promise to let no little lamb have anything on me for meekness."

"It's about the house," I said hurriedly. "Oh, Dicky, how I must

...vulsively, the relief of his words bringing the quick tears to my eyes. "There isn't anything in the world for me tonight but you, just you. Don't let's spoil the evening by talking about anything else."

"Yes, we will." There was obstinacy as well as tenderness in Dicky's tone. "I know your honest soul and that stiffnecked pride of yours well enough to realize that nothing but a mighty big emergency will have led you off on this track tonight." "You talk like a lawyer," I pointed by the Queensberry rules. So tell me what's on your mind, sweetheart. I'll prove to let no little lamb have anything on me for meekness."

"It's about the house," I said anxiously. "Oh, Dicky, I've heard all over this territory, and it's the same as it is everywhere else. Nothing at all to rent, and only prohibitive places to buy. But there's a small farm, with one of those scaldy hard-boiled eggs which would lend itself to anything—I want to do with it, and the most wonderful view of the ocean from the top of the hill, back of it, and lilacs and old apple trees—you'd want to paint all day long if you saw them—but it's in the most awful place—

"Is it worth $4000?" Dicky struck in.

"How—how did you know?" I asked, bannally enough.

A MOONLIGHT VIEW.

"It hardly requires a Sherlockian

"You ask that I bring you a certified check for $4000, the full amount of your patrimony, then tell me there's nothing more to it, and I begin to describe this picturesque ruin. Wake up, old dear. It's nearly train time."

"I am stupid," I sighed. "But honestly Dicky, I've trailed houses until I'm only fit for an imbecile's shoe home."

"I know." His hand closed comfortably over mine. "You've had the brunt of everything. But I'm on the job now. Where is this place?"

"Next the Ticor home."

"Anybody in it?"

"No, the people moved out yesterday."

"Why can't we go over and look at it now?"

"All right. Let's go."

He rose, swung, me to my feet, held me close for a minute with a tender, lingering kiss, then tucked my hand under his arm and started off across the sandy beach at a pace that taxed me to keep up with him.

"The house hunters on the trail," he chanted gravely, and I saw that the idea of the old house had fired his imagination, and that he was all impatient to see it.

"Lingering on the road back," drove the car as fast as I dared, and it was but a few minutes until we had turned into the lilac-bordered driveway. The old place looked in describably lovely crouching in the moon light, but it was not until we had left the car, climbed the hill in the rear, and looked over the moonlit slope to the village and ocean far below, that Dicky spoke.

"I don't care if every timber in this house is falling to pieces," he declared. "Here's where we live!"

COLD WIND FAILS TO KEEP MOTOR FANS FROM SHOW

By EMIL REINHARDT.

Once again last night the Auditorium was packed with enthusiastic spectators anxious to see just what new added features had been made on the many models exhibited by the Eastbay dealers.

The officials of the show were greatly surprised to see such a mass of people at the Auditorium, due to the fact that one of the coldest north winds ever felt in the city of Oakland was blowing a gale. They came in spite of this mean obstacle, which seldom arises to stop the pleasures of any one in our marvelous state.

The gleaming lights of the Auditorium against the shining cars in the main arena is a sight that will be remembered for many years to come. Never before has Oakland been able to boast of such a splendid show in her big Auditorium. The cars against an artistically beautiful setting appear most attractive to the human eye. No visitor can see them without desiring to own at least one of the offerings.

OUT-OF-TOWN FOLK.
Many came from as far south as San Jose, bringing their families and friends. The stage companies operating out of Oakland put on extra buses to handle the crowds. They were all enthusiastic and anxious to see what they had heard from those who had attended the show early in the week.

Nearly every dealer at the show is now has made at least two or more sales, others will be closed before the end of the week. People know that they are getting real car values this year, in other words, more for their money than they have ever received before. Automobiles that are now being shown are finished products.

They are necessities in daily life, the business man, the professional man and the general public finds the car a real adjunct to business. The automobile show gives even spectators a chance to compare each product, going over every detail and finally picking out the car of his or her fancy. If the writer was asked to pick out which car he would prefer it would be a difficult decision. Men who are constantly in touch with the automobile business have a hard time making a decision.

CHEAPER THAN EVER.
People have been waiting for that so-called final drop in price on the car of their choice, not realizing that right today automobiles are cheaper than they ever were. The late models on display are so nicely finished, with every detail complete, that few can understand how it is possible for the cars to be sold at such low prices and still allow the dealer a fair profit. There are cars which will sell to meet every man's pocketbook.

The increased number of low-priced coupes and sedans is interesting. The spectators flocked about the closed jobs, due to the chill that prevailed outside the show. Just a few years back the man who owned the enclosed car was thought crazy, he was getting too old to be able to enjoy the fresh air, but this is no longer the case. It's solid comfort against any kind of weather. Some people prefer to travel without the heavy overcoats and bundling up for a few hours' jaunt.

BUMPER QUALITIES.
The accessory exhibitors were kept busy explaining in detail to the spectators just what comforts their products would add to the comforts of the automobile. Mickens & Stephens distributors for camping bumpers have been demonstrating this bumper in front of the Auditorium daily by traveling at a 15-mile-an-hour speed when hitting a telephone pole.

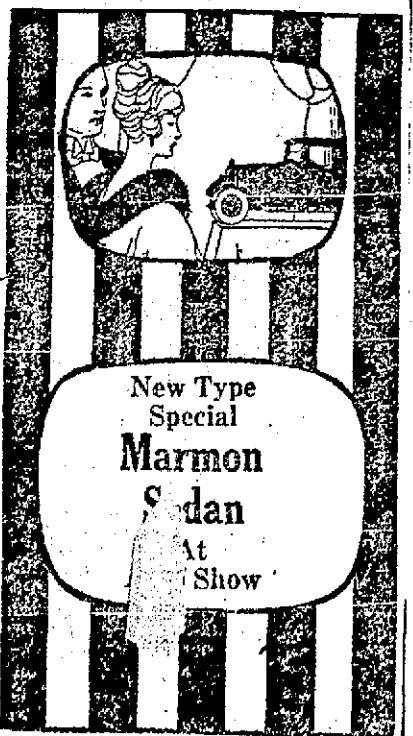

This is done to show the standing up qualities of the bumper. The Coast Tire is on display, some of the officials have been on the job explaining the exact process that must be gone through before the tire is made and ready for travel. There are snubbers, absorbers and many other interesting accessories which are drawing much attention. Last year there were a few more accessory exhibitors, but due to crowded conditions the show management was not able to furnish them with any more space.

Many dealers well known among the trade attended the show last night, and proclaimed it to be the greatest they have ever seen.

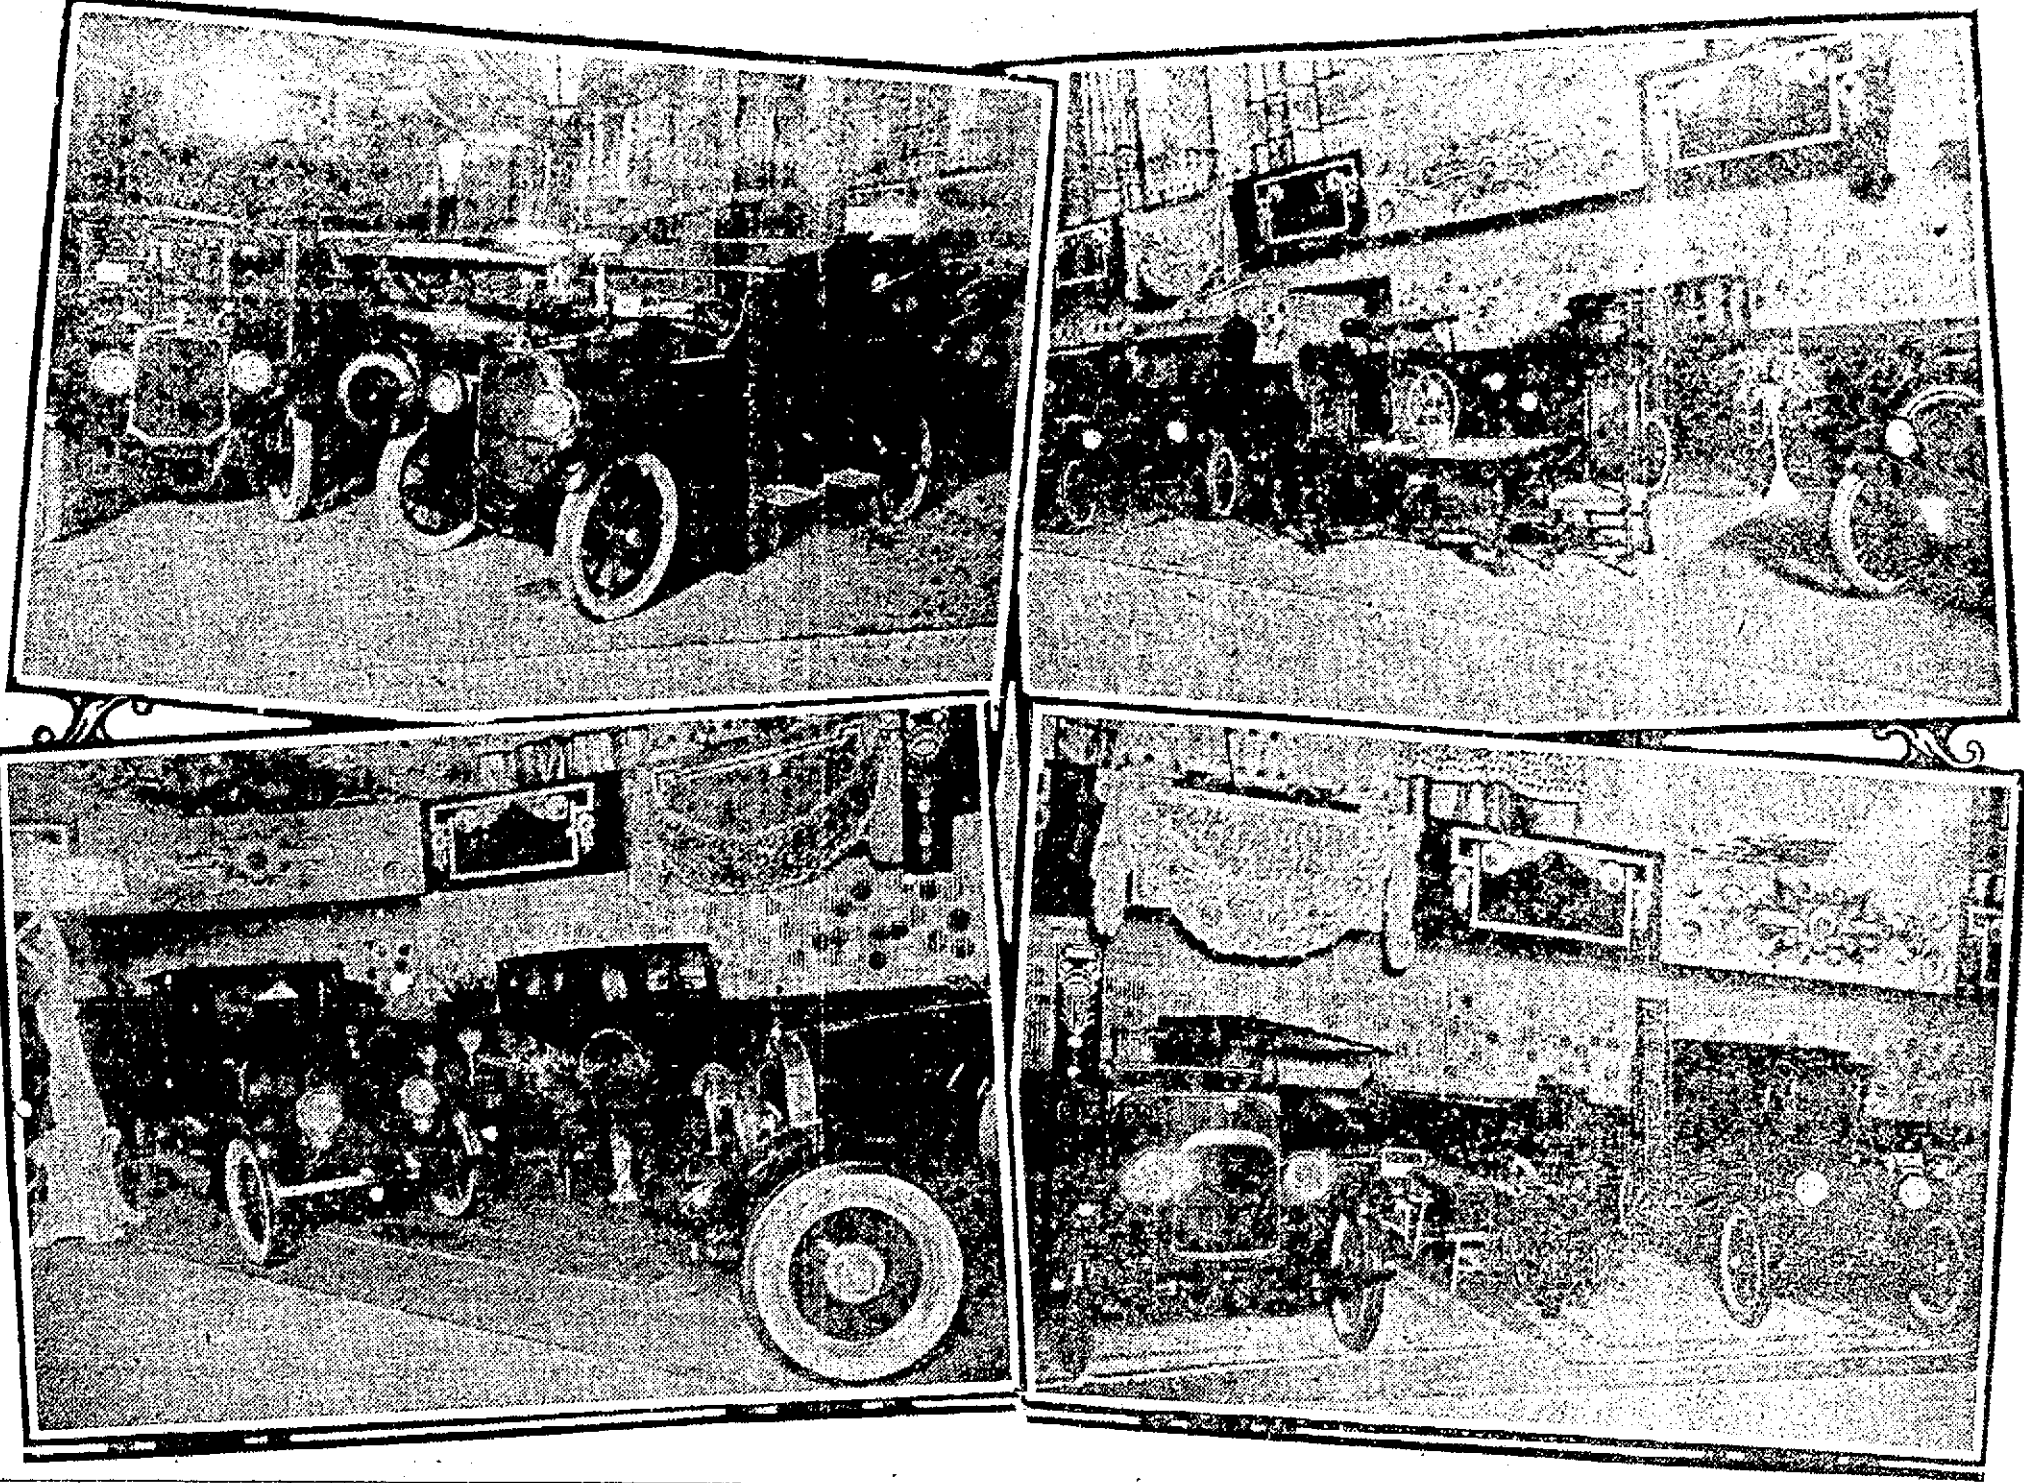

CURTAINS FOR COMFORT THERE

If you drive an automobile in stormy weather and try to put up your curtains no doubt you will say it's no joke, and the reason your attention is called to the fact that your top can be remodeled at a moderate price and in such a manner as to make your car as comfortable as any closed car.

It will pay motorists to visit the Howard Auto company's used car

Everybody was made glad last night at the auto show when the band played the old reliable song, one that will never be forgotten, "In My Merry Oldsmobile."

Some of the spectators around the Oldsmobile exhibit started a dance but found it hard, due to the congested condition of the aisles. Many were humming the favorite tune and others whistling. It seemed good to hear the old song once again, declared H. G. Markham of Markham & Purser, Oldsmobile dealers, when it was over.

"I love to hear that tune and feel twenty years younger when it is played. To be truthful, I think it is the finest song ever published."

Exhibit in the North Corridor at the Auditorium and see how convenient Comfort Curtains are. Those you will see are made by the Francis Auto Service, which firm claims you are assured of real service and courteous treatment. George Francis has built up a reputation of which any Top Man may well be proud. Their shops, which are located at 3074 Brook street, next to the Howard Auto company, are very completely equipped for remodeling and repairing of automobiles.

Salesroom Holds Its Own Show Five Models, Chassis Displayed

The Pierce-Arrow Pacific Sales Co. is holding a very creditable display of new models in their salesroom at Twenty-third and Webster streets. They are not participating in the show principally because they were not certain of getting the latest series in time for the annual Oakland show and did not care to take space unless they were positive they could present Eastbay motorists with their recently announced models.

When word came that cars were on their way to Oakland, the choice show spaces had been allotted, hence the decision to stage a special exhibition in the Webster street showrooms.

Five models and a chassis are to be seen here and this constitutes the largest single offering of Pierce-Arrow models that have been presented to Eastbay cities motor enthusiasts.

The exhibit comprises a three-passenger coupe, seven-passenger full estate sedan, a seven-passenger sedan, a four-passenger touring car, a four-passenger sedan and a highly polished chassis. A study of the latter reveals the high standards of Pierce-Arrow construction.

There was a steady stream of visitors to the showroom last night and larger crowds are expected to-night and in the evenings during the remainder of the week.

A. J. Kleimeyer, vice-president of the Pierce-Arrow Pacific Sales Co., is in charge of the exhibit.

BEAUTY OF CAR PLUS LOW PRICE PROVES WINNER

Interest at the Durant exhibit space over the new models seems to continue at the same pitch of enthusiasm. During the whole of last evening scores of people flocked around the special Durant models and evidenced their interest in these latest creations of the great automobile manufacturer.

Earle G. Anthony, Inc., executives were enthusiastic last night over the show and its success to date. In commenting on the local interest displayed by the crowds the officers of the company were inclined to divide the credit between the beauty of the car and its low price. Durant's reputation as a car builder and the fact of the large Oakland factory of the big automobile manufacturing concern. Regardless of what caused it, the results were especially pleasing.

NEW MODEL WINS CROWDS AT SHOW

The air-cooled Franklin models continued to attract favorable attention last night from the show visitors. George Barnes, vice-president of the Franklin Motor Car company and a man prominent in local motor car circles, was enthusiastic over the show. This was Barnes' first visit to the show as he makes his headquarters in San Francisco, and he was both amazed and delighted with the success of the exhibit.

The new Franklin coupe continued to be the chief attraction at the exhibit. This is a new model shown here for the first time at any show and the popularity it has attracted is very pleasing to the Franklin Motor Car company officials.

London Has Motor Club for Women

London has a Ladies' Automobile club. Among the members are: Dukes of Beaufort, Viscountess Churchill, Lady Buchanan-Jardine, Lady Sybil Codrington, Lady Troubridge, Lady Muesgrave, Lady Young, Lady Bruce-Porter, Lady de L'Isle and Dudley, Lady Louise Loder and Mrs. Loeffler.

EXPERTS EXPLAIN SPECIALTIES IN NEWEST MODELS

Interest continued without abatement at the Reo exhibit last night and a lot of activity was apparent even to the untrained eye.

Harry A. Hine of the H. A. Hine company, Reo dealer in Oakland, who was much in evidence at the exhibit explaining the various features that make the Reo so popular, stopped in his talk to auto show visitors, long enough, to tell of the sale of a new Reo sedan to Mrs. John Mauer of Oakland.

This report, together with a long list of people who have manifested a keen interest in the various models in the Reo exhibit, serves to prove the success of the show from a commercial or trade standpoint.

The Reo display consisted of the attractive touring car, model, a sedan, a coupe, and an unfinished body, showing how thorough care goes into the building of Reo bodies. Special emphasis is being laid by Reo executives at the show on the excellent finish, the wonderful appointments and pleasing appearance of the closed car models on display.

Limited space at the show prevents a complete showing of all models, but the interest in those shown has been very gratifying, according to a statement made last night by J. L. Brambila, one of the executives of the Lou H. Rose company, and well versed in motor car merchandising problems.

"I consider this year's automobile show a great success," said Brambila. "The decorations are superb, the models arranged in their various display spaces to advantage and the attendance figures exceptionally gratifying to the automobile men. It is the public reception accorded the automobile industry at the automobile shows every year that convinces us of the importance of the industry of which we are a part."

BEAUTY OF NEW CAR SENSATION OF MOTOR SHOW

The new series of the good Marmon continues to be as how sensation and the beauty of the new car in its various body types is a constant surprise to those automobile show visitors who have not previously seen the various pleasing models.

Seldom has any car introduced at a coast automobile show received a more cordial reception and officials of the Lou H. Rose company were last night delighted with the results of the display.

A special showing of both Marmon and Chalmers cars is also being held at the Lou H. Rose showrooms during the week, in order that a full line of both cars, with all of their many pleasing body types may be kept on display.

"I consider this year's automobile show a great success," said Brambila. "The decorations are superb, the models arranged in their various display spaces to advantage and the attendance figures exceptionally gratifying to the automobile men. It is the public reception accorded the automobile industry at the automobile shows every year that convinces us of the importance of the industry of which we are a part."

A CAR FOR EVERY PURSE FOUND AT AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Many Sales Reported; Some Pay Cash; Sellers' "Lines" Varied.

By SETH BAILEY.

If you have acquired a new car but recently, and you happen to have touched the family purse for all it will stand for the next six months, you will enjoy one satisfaction by visiting the auto show that comes to but few. You will not find a single automobile in that vast exhibit that will please you as well as the one you have. But if your car is old and rattles and wheezes, and the paint has in some manner made itself hard to find, then you had better tie a couple of buckles, strings around the old purse in a double knot and stick it in your hip pocket, to be used in a case of emergency. They say when the fever strikes you, the quickest thing you crave is action.

The mysterious crowing of a rooster in the auditorium has been heard every morning, and sometimes during the day, since the show opened Monday. Bob Martland, manager of the exhibit, has made a thorough search of the auditorium, from skylight to basement, and can find nothing with the exception of an occasional rooster track. The bird is believed to be one left behind from the last poultry show. Without food, it appears to have attacked the auditorium proper. Yesterday one of the statues discovered she was shy a couple of toes, the same having been reported to Martland, who investigated. It is believed the rooster deliberately ate them, same being made of plaster dross. Martland offered $5 for the bird's capture.

William P. Jarvis, state agent for the Mutual Health and Accident association, purchased a Willys-Knight yesterday evening. He walked into the auditorium, sighted the Willys-Knight display and walked straight for it. The salesman was almost overcome when Jarvis ordered the car with but a little inspection. His desire for one, he said, was created through a demonstration witnessed on a mountain road a few weeks ago. "That one demonstration settled me," he said. "I made up my mind and I'm not going to change it."

It has just been discovered that Henry Ford has all the character traits of Abe Lincoln. Two ladies were looking over the exhibit yesterday. "You know," said one to the other, "I think Ford has a most wonderful figure. He's going to buy the Lincoln car, I heard you say they've put up a statue of him over the Lincoln. Haven't he a wonderful character—just like he wanted to speak to you?" She was pointing to the statue of Lincoln. All of which substantiates the assertion that America is far behind the European countries in the development of art.

Henry Ford came in for more than his share of publicity yesterday. A little old woman, wearing a shawl, attempted to get by the doorkeeper without a ticket. "Mister," she explained, "I just want to see Mr. Ford for only a minute. Could I see him?" The doorkeeper explained bluntly: "Mr. Ford was not attending the show in person, but had representatives there. No salesman could do better than what Mr. Ford would be expected to do, she said, and departed.

There is one pleasure in attending yesterday's show that was not enjoyed at yesterday's exhibit. All motor horns have been disconnected, by order of manager Bob Martland. Monday afternoon they tooted and tooted, until everybody was on edge. Now it is a fine time to exhibit a car with the horn connected to the battery.

Frank Sanford, manager of the Buick display, purchased 50 tickets to the exhibit yesterday. Today he is distributing them among his friends and prospective customers. Frank's friends had better get busy on the telephone before they are all gone.

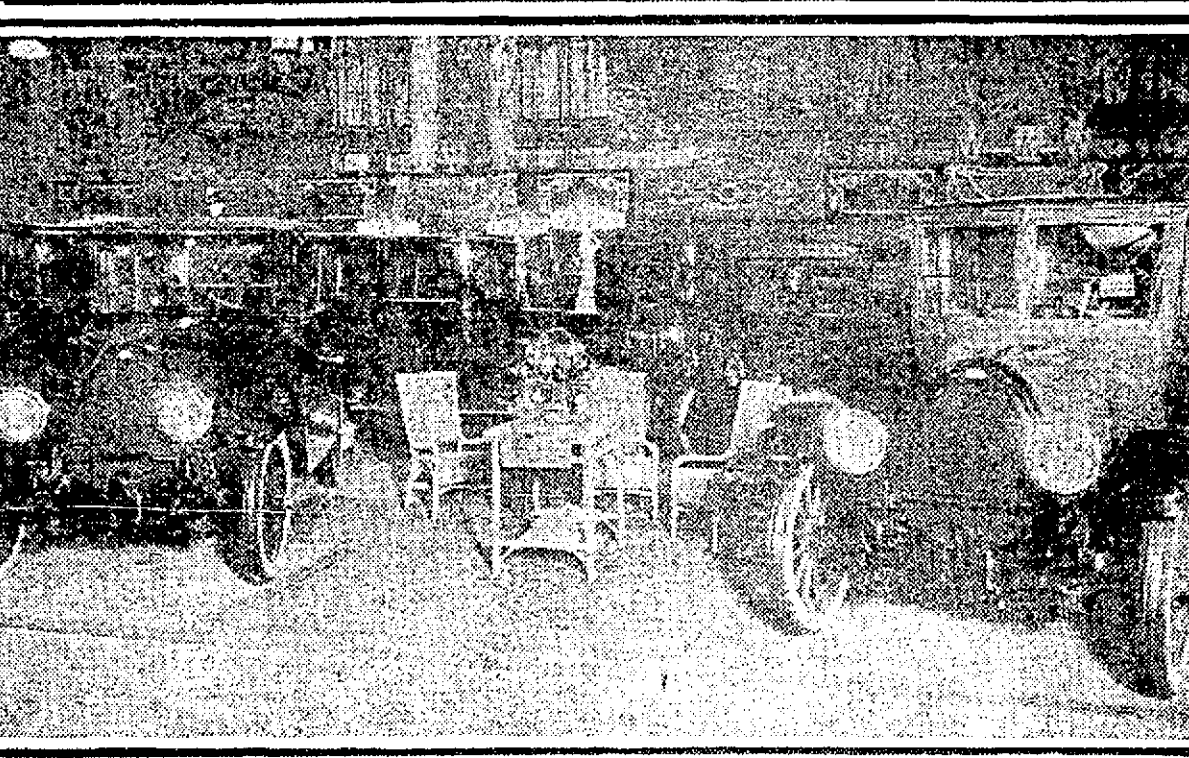

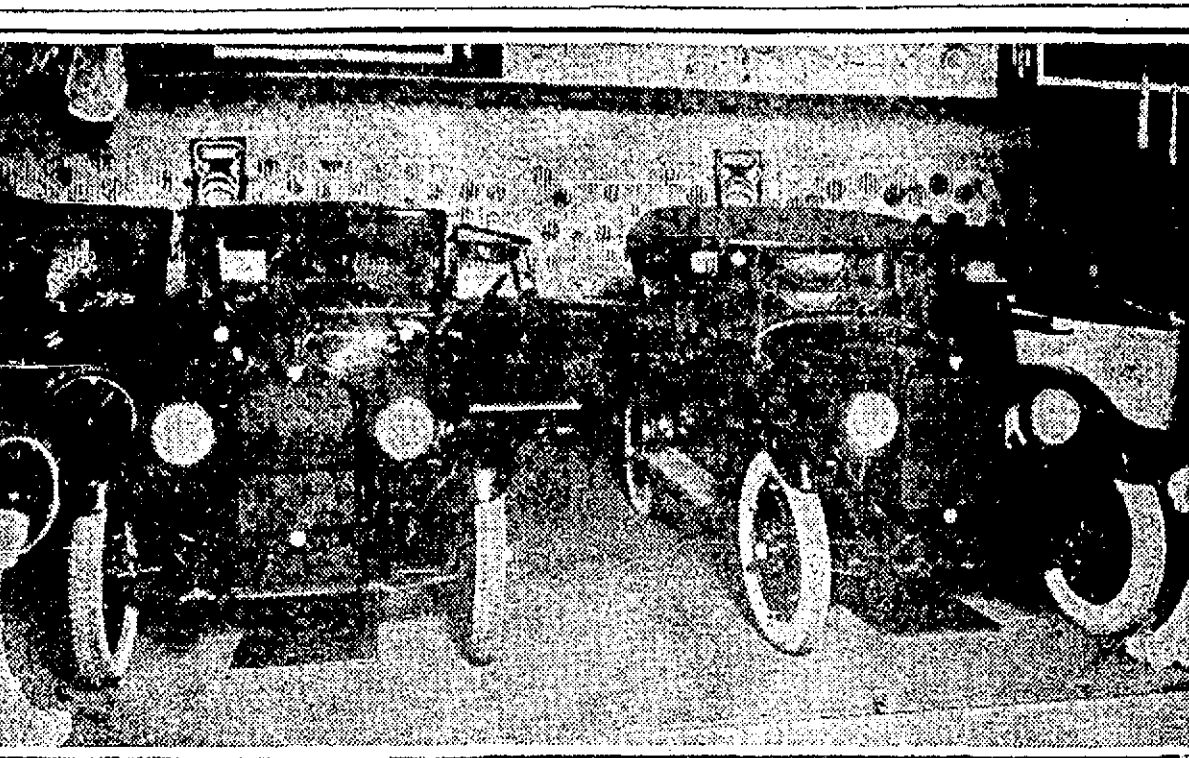

A ticket to the show admits you free to the auto race. The race is run every half hour on the bowl under the Venetian Refining company's display over in the southeast foyer. Four cars fly around the bowl 24 times. Due to the mechanical construction of the apparatus that controls their speed there is no way of telling which will win. Not even the conductor of the speedway knows. All of which makes the race very interesting for the spectators. A feature of the race is a jazz band, colored and mechanical, which plays at jazz music. The exhibit is under the supervision of L. M. McCray, district sales manager.

This year's exhibit lacks just one thing that last year's show had, and that is a more varied showing of accessories. The accessories this year consist mainly of bumpers, shock absorbers and polish. There is a very complete exhibit of second-hand cars, however, which was not the case last year. And there are some wonderful second-hand values to be had.

When Arthur Sparkplug of Stockton ordered a Durant car yesterday the salesman ascertained his name, which he scribbled on an order blank and then hustled away to have the name of the buyer placed on a card to be pasted to the windshield, showing the car was sold. The show card writer wrote it A. Sparkplug. The sign was hung up before the mistake was noticed.

Edward Wells, chairman of the show committee, was confronted yesterday by a little man who inquired if he could obtain floor space to exhibit a new car, which he said he had just built. The car, he said, was a new invention and could make

A PORTION OF THE LOU ROSE EXHIBIT AT THE AUTO SHOW WHICH SHOWS THE nifty new Maxwells Rose is presenting to Eastbay motorists.

THE AIR-COOLED FRANKLIN MODELS ARE COMMANDING A GREAT DEAL OF attention this week at the Auto Show. Two new Franklin models are in the display—a Coupe and a Touring Limousine.

10 miles on one gallon of gasoline. "And," said the applicant, "it can walk up the side of the wall there." "You're a little late for space," said Wells, "but I'll tell you what. Just drive it up the side of the wall and set the brake good and hard. Everybody can see it then."

Every salesman at the exhibit, or manager, has a different way of starting his sales talk. If you are a prospective buyer and desire to know who you are talking to, you can distinguish them by the way they open up on you. For instance, if you are looking over the Chevrolet and the salesman begins with, "Now this car—," you will recognize him as Jerry Collier.

Charles Hebrank, who sells Hupmobiles, invariably starts off by telling you that his car has guaranteed for one solid year. Some years are long and some short, according to the individual's private opinion. But this is the first year heard of that is solid. Let's hope it stays that way. If you are looking at a Maxwell and happen to be talking to Don Shortz, you will recognize him by the way he sticks his thumb in the armpits of his vest. He invariably says: "This is a great car."

Bill Webber of the Don Lee agency, who sells Cadillacs, may be identified by his customary barrage: "—if you are looking for a real car—," and so on.

Wallace Nail of the Philip S. Cole agency, selling the Haynes, can be picked out easily by the way he places one hand on the car and the other confidentially on the shoulder of the prospect. Of course in this he has been observed only when talking to men.

The conduct of others is under observation and may be reported at a later date.

OAKLAND MOTOR MAN ENTHUSES OVER EXHIBITS

"Bob" Thompson thinks so much of the Oakland show that he has paid a visit to the auditorium every day. The general manager of the Howard Automobile company remarked to THE TRIBUNE representative that it was one of the most beautifully decorated and comprehensive automobile shows he has ever attended. And coming from the well-known Buick manager, who has visited all of the big eastern shows year after year, this compliment has made "Bob" Martland feel much elated over his efforts to make Oakland's automobile show this year the "best ever."

MANAGER OF S. F. AGENCY PRAISES OAKLAND DISPLAY

L. M. Stewart, San Francisco manager for the Willys-Overland Pacific company, was an interested automobile show visitor last night, making his headquarters at the exhibit space of Bell and Boyd, Oakland dealers for Overland and Willys-Knight models of cars.

Stewart was much impressed with the show, the size of the crowds and was especially pleased with the interest displayed by the show visitors in the Oakland and Willys-Knight exhibit.

"The interest shown in both the Overland and the Willys-Knight models on display at the show is a reflection of the general interest expressed in both of these lines by the motor car buying public of California," said Stewart. "I have just returned from a short business tour of the state and find everywhere at our dealer establishments an increased demand for both these cars."

In the Bell and Boyd exhibit at the Oakland show the public is showing a keen interest in the Willys-Knight, shown in its various body styles. The pleasing performance of this car, its record made in California during the past year and the testimony of hundreds of owners is cited by salesmen as among the reasons for the desirability of a Willys-Knight.

OVERCOAT STOLEN; 4 ORDERS GONE

Arthur Gillis, who beams smiles upon the visitors of the automobile show at the Buick exhibit, had to shield his anger behind a happy countenance. The reason? Well, a sneak thief managed to "go south" with his overcoat on Monday night, and with this biting cold north wind, Gillis says he could make good use of his overcoat. But the thief was considerate enough to take out from the pocket of the coat the bunch of keys which Gillis uses and place them inside of his hat. There wasn't any message of regret or kind wishes left behind by the person who thought that Gillis' overcoat was just his size.

"Well, I suppose you'll let that guy keep the overcoat if he only returns to you the four orders for new Buick cars that you placed in the inside pocket of his hat," remarked Frank Sanford, when Gillis spoke about his loss.

"Sure," replied the vaive-in-head salesman, as he turned around to dispose of another Buick to a prospect who was admiring the beautiful coupe which is on display.

Easy Operation Marks New Cars Child Can Drive Modern Machine

One of the most notable advances made by modern cars has been in the direction of easier and more quiet operation. The prevalence of speed and even children in their upper teens as drivers of cars, is perhaps the best testimonial of the great strides that have been made by automobile engineers along these lines.

Not so many years ago it was necessary to have a good strong arm to crank a car—an ordeal incidentally, often performed in mud or puddles of water.

Another essential was the possession of a box of matches to light the gas lamps at night. There was also the inconvenience of gear shifting, with the clutch pedal requiring considerable pressure and levers hard to manipulate. In short, driving a car was strictly a man's job.

Electric starters and lights, instrument boards, cord tires and particularly easy gear shifting revolutionized things, until today it is not only the usual thing to see a woman at the wheel of a car, but women have become actually as proficient as men in driving automobiles.

The pioneering efforts of Studebaker engineers have been conspicuously along the line of making Studebaker cars easy for even a child to handle, and designing them as nearly "fool proof" as possible. The latest innovation is the new perfected type of clutch which is a feature of the new Studebaker cars at the Weaver-Weiss company exhibit in the show. This clutch makes for extremely easy and quiet gear shifting. It is of the single plate, dry disc type in which the driven member is a single spider rotating between two rings of friction material. Nine separate springs maintain uniform pressure between friction surfaces.

The release mechanism consists of a series of levers equalized so as to center the pressure separating the friction surfaces, when the clutch pedal is depressed. A clutch brake serves to prevent spinning of transmission gears after the clutch is disengaged, making gear shifting quiet and easy. The gear shift lever is centrally located directly over the transmission cover and is of the ball-and-socket type with an offset cane lever which makes gear shifting easy.

LUXURIOUS AUTO FITTINGS NOW DEMAND OF BUYER

The "Comfort Car," for years a favorite with the auto show loving public, was present in its various body designs and all its glory at the Oakland Auto Show last night.

Both open and closed models of the Hupmobile were on display in the show space of the Hebrank, Hunter, Peacock Company, and during the whole evening the exhibit was crowded with people who were interested in the special features of the Hupmobile.

The recent drastic price reduction on the Hupmobile has served to further concentrate the spotlight of public attention on this car and sales records in California during the last few months have shattered all previous records.

The interest displayed by the Oakland crowds in the Hupmobile model would seem to be evidence that the coming year is going to be another prosperous one for the dealers in the Northern California territory who hold the Hupmobile sales franchise.

Special features of the Hupmobile coupe were the center of much interest and discussion, and it was easy even for the casual observer to see that this closed model is to be a favorite with the public here during the months to come.

E. W. Milburn, manager of the Greer-Robins Company, California Hupmobile distributors, and Ray Parker, wholesale man for the organization, were show visitors and spent some time going over the various displays with Charles Hebrank. All were very much impressed with the success of the show and more than delighted with the reception accorded the various Hupmobile models.

Vehicle Registration In U. S. Costs $11

The average cost for the registration of all classes of motor vehicles in the United States is $11. The average in Arizona, Kansas, Louisiana, South Dakota and South Carolina is $5.37, while two other States have fees that average more than $29 for each car in these States.

METAL SHOP WINS AUTO PATRONAGE

Working together in a partnership that has proved highly successful, two well known Oakland automobilists are building up a large business.

They are William Hite, who formerly operated a garage on Nineteenth street and A. G. Hironaka, head of the American Auto Metal Works on Twenty-third street. Hironaka and Hite are now together in the Twenty-third street plant, repairing radiators, fenders and doing all sorts of metal work for motor cars. Both men have been connected with the automobile industry for many years and are experts in their lines. They are developing a nice business there, and will soon seek larger quarters.

AUTOMOBILE SALE GROWS; REPAIRS SHOW DECREASES

High Tribute To Service Is Contained in Figures Made Public.

A canvass of Weaver-Wells Company headquarters at the automobile show brings a genuine surprise. With Studebaker so prominently in the limelight because of many notable records established, it is naturally a surprise to learn that Studebaker's business fell off in any direction whatever in 1921. That is, it is a surprise until it develops that the decrease came in repair parts sales. Then, knowing this, it is easy to understand why the Weaver-Wells Company force not only points with pride to this record, but actually considers it the foremost among the many notable achievements to Studebaker's credit in 1921.

Before giving the figures, it may be well to state in passing that they are the first of their kind ever compiled and announced by any automobile manufacturer. Incidentally, they cover the first nine months of 1921, and show that Studebaker led all manufacturers of standard makes of cars in percentage of increase of car sales over the same period of 1920 and also 1919.

The figures show that while car sales increased 35 per cent over 1920, the sales of repair parts decreased 13 per cent. And, similarly, while car sales increased 89 per cent over 1919, sales of repair parts decreased 6 per cent.

On October 1, 1921, it is further pointed out, there were 117,000 more Studebaker cars in operation than two years previous, yet the sales of repair parts were actually 6 per cent less than at that time.

To E. B. Wells, manager of Weaver-Wells Company, this showing—this decrease in repair parts sales in the face of record gains in car sales—is greatest tribute yet paid to the fact that the cars themselves can be depended upon to stand up under hard service, with minimum expense for maintenance. And, they add, it is not difficult in view of such a record, to explain why the cars themselves have been accorded such great praise as they have received from owners.

CAR'S POPULARITY SHOWN BY SALES

W. L. Webber, who is manager for Don Lee and general in-charge of the various Don Lee Cadillac exhibits at the automobile show, was smilingly enthusiastic last night over the Cadillac popularity as evidenced by show sales.

In the rebuilt Cadillac department space at the big Auditorium exhibit there has been lots of interest, resulting in two sales of these attractive Cadillac cars.

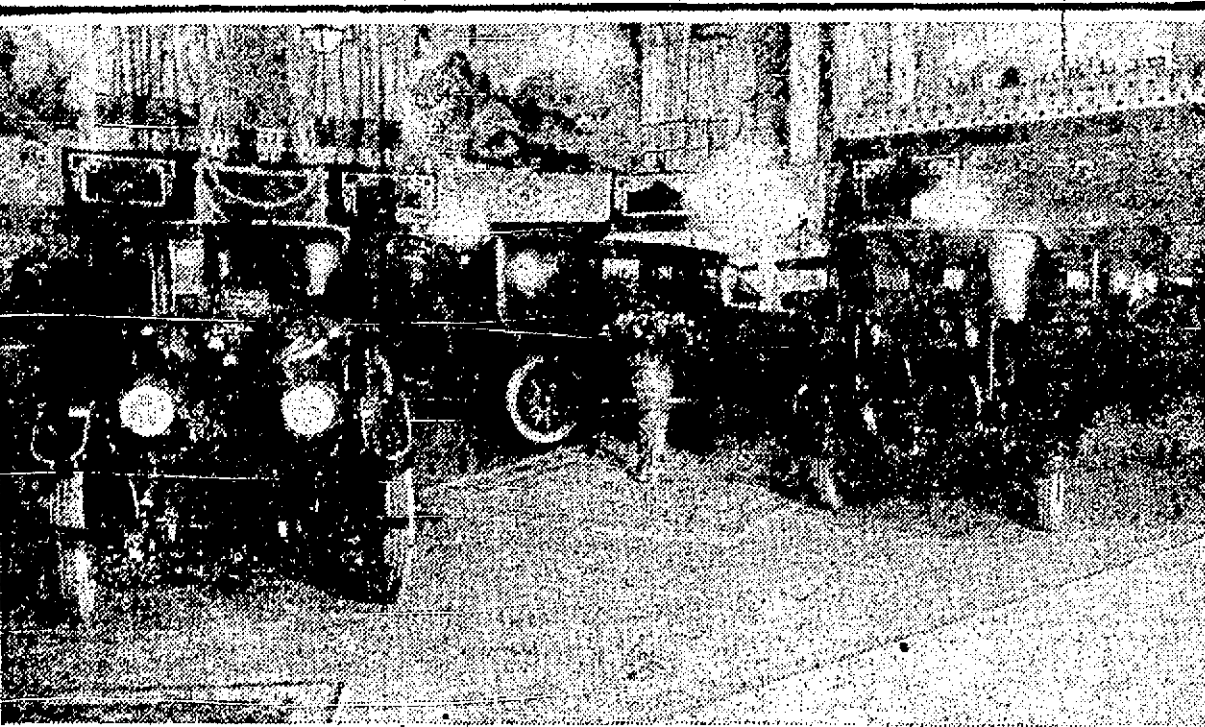

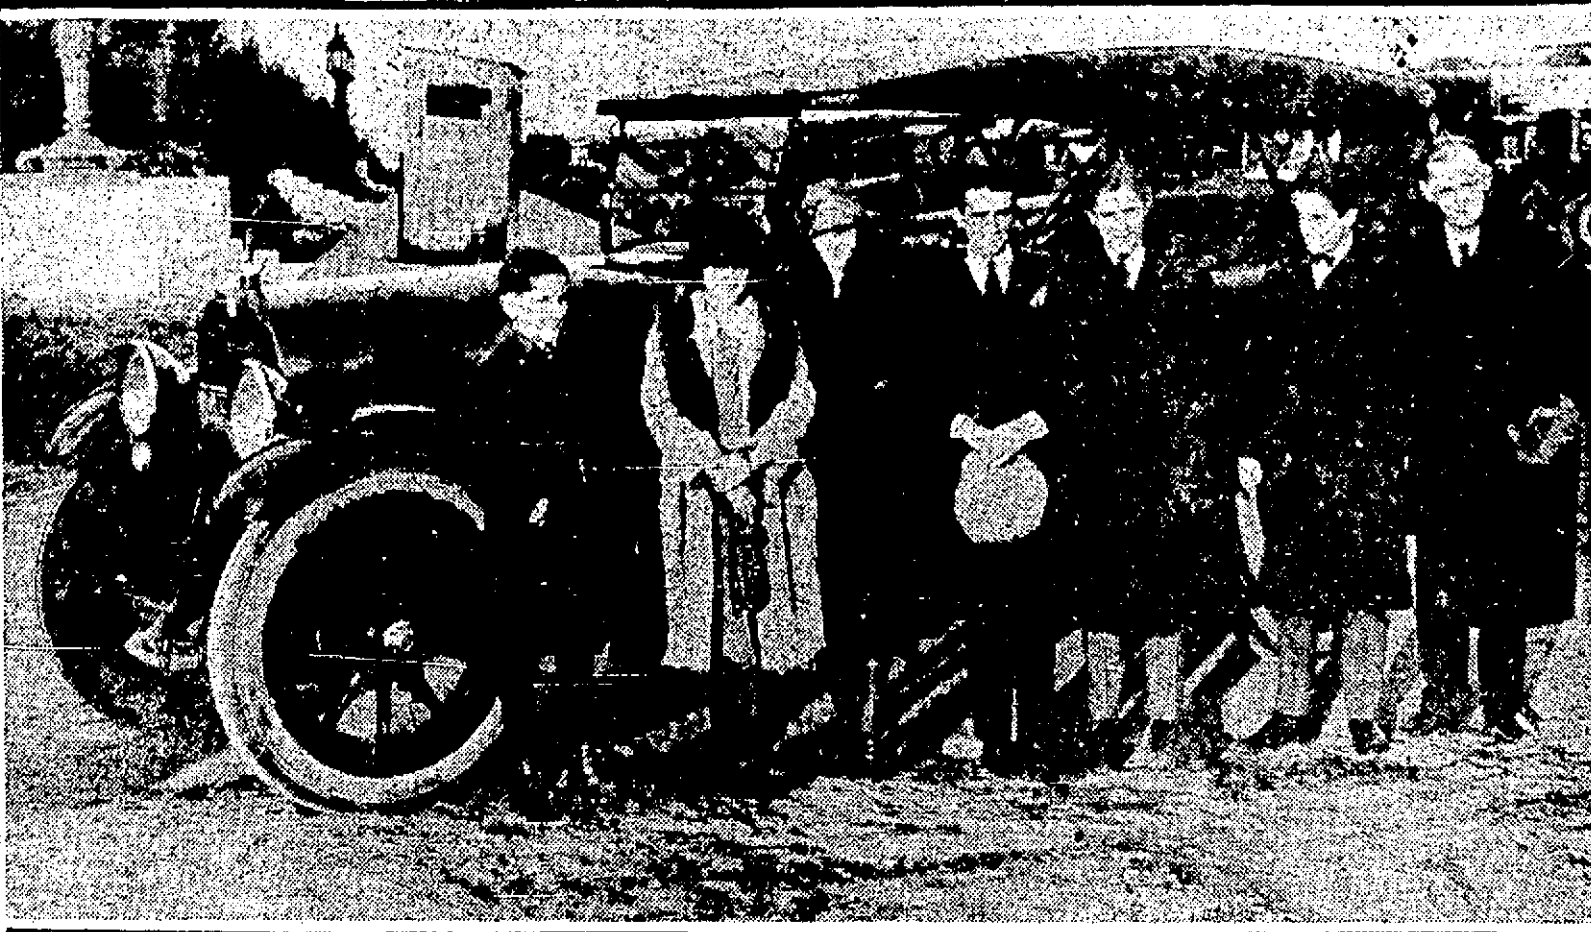

In the feature Cadillac exhibit where the dresy 1922 models are displayed, two of the attractive enclosed cars of the new Cadillac have found happy purchasers.

All of which shows that the interest continues to be at a fever heat and that the Oakland public is keenly interested in the purchase of quality cars.

Various salesmen in the different Don Lee exhibits were last night enthusiastic over the crowds that are daily thronging the Auditorium.

Thirteen new makes of passenger automobiles are listed for exhibition in coming automobile shows throughout the United States.

PROSPERITY SEEN BY SALES HEAD

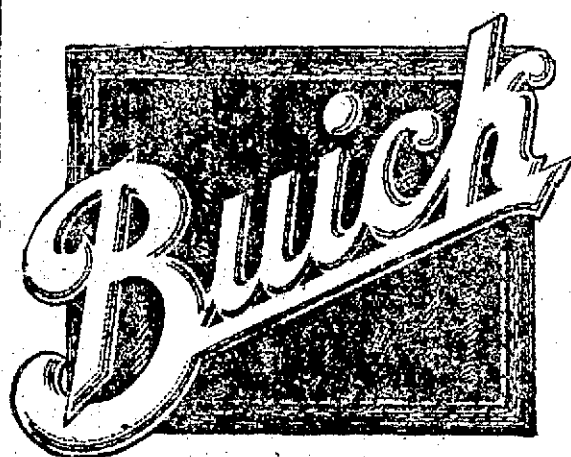

Announcement has just been made by Frank E. Carroll, Pacific Coast manager for the New York Lubricating Oil Company, of the appointment of the M. D. Skaggs, former zone manager in Northern California for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and who has been connected with that organization for the last eight years, to handle sales work for Monogram Products in Oakland, Alameda and Contra Costa counties. Skaggs has built up a considerable reputation in Northern California for his sales ability, and his new connection will offer him further opportunities in the commercial work.

Carroll, who recently formed connections with the New York Lubricating Oil Company, reports a wider demand than ever for Monogram Products with the opening of the New Year of 1922.

"It looks very much like a banner year for us on the Pacific Coast," states Carroll.

ACCESSORIES AND CLOSED CARS ARE RIVALS FOR FAVOR

Cold weather could not cool the ardor of the thousands of Oakland people who had decided to set last night aside to visit the big automobile show at the civic auditorium. Thousands poured in the doors during the evening and the attendance surpassed the Tuesday night figure by a liberal margin.

It was noticed, however, that the show crowd showed a tendency to view closed cars with more than usual favor, an indication that the cold weather of the evening had turned their thoughts to the most comfortable form of motor transportation.

Salesmen in all of the various exhibits declared that the interest shown last night in the closed car models exceeded all previous interest exhibited in this type of car. All models, however, seemed to compete for their share of praise and attention.

The public that visited the various exhibits last night was a shopping crowd, as they stopped at the various exhibits to admire the various creations of the eastern factories and the California body builders, staying to compare price and estimate actual value.

Scores of good names were added to the "prospects" lists of the various salesmen and a number of bona fide sales were recorded at various exhibits.

ACCESSORY EXHIBITS. The accessory exhibits continued to interest the crowds and draw an unusual amount of attention, the people this year seeming to find an increasing amount of interest in the specialty exhibits of those little things that add to the comfort and convenience of the motorist.

Those who are familiar with men in the trade noted a number of old familiar faces at the various exhibits. Men, who year after year, visit the motor shows, were on hand to see and compare. The unanimous verdict of these men was that Oakland had in this show one that would reflect credit on the whole city and prove a great boost for the automobile industry of the city.

The decorations also came in for their share of praise and the music by Rosebrook was voted the best ever given at a local show. Manager Bob Marland last night was much pleased with the optimistic reports that continued to come in from various motor men.

TIRE CHIEF ENDS TOUR OVER WEST

A. F. Osterloh, vice president and general manager of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California, has just returned to Los Angeles after completing a three weeks' trip covering upwards of 5000 miles during which he visited all of the western branches of the big rubber company.

With the advent of the new year Osterloh assumed active direction of sales in this western territory and this trip was taken for the purpose of securing first-hand information as to business conditions, as well as to become better acquainted with the personnel of each branch organization. The branches visited included San Francisco, Fresno, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Butte, Denver, and Salt Lake.

"Almost everywhere I went," said Osterloh, "I found business on the up-grade and a feeling of optimism generally prevailed. Future dating orders are coming in to a larger degree than we anticipated and dealers all over the west are expecting a large volume of sales in the new year."

was warm in his praise of the big show, as was also Ray Parker, a veteran motor man, wholesale manager for the Greer-Robbins company, California. Hugonible distributors, who held forth at the display as a visitor.

James Scarsdale also visited the Oakland display and praised the management for its successful staging of the event. Gilbert Woodhill, Pacific coast representative of the Kissel factory, made the rounds at the show and expressed himself as delighted with the big display.

L. M. Stewart, manager of the Willys-Overland Pacific company in San Francisco, spent several hours in going around the big auditorium and smiled his appreciation of the efforts made by the Oakland men to put on a real exhibit.

Scores of other men, prominent in coast motor circles, have been on the ground and all have passed a most favorable verdict on the show, all of which is very gratifying to the Oakland show committee and the management of the show.

Why They Call Him "Jerry Is Mystery"

C. H. (Jerry) Collier, manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company of California, retail store, used to sell windshields and made a success of it. Then he joined Chevrolet as a "road man," and sold cars to dealers up and down the coast. Then he was appointed manager here when the factory branch was opened and has been at it ever since.

Many New York Drivers Imprisoned

Of the 40,151 cases tried by the Traffic court in New York City during 1921, 1929 chauffeurs were sent to jail on straight sentences, and 1889 drivers went to jail in default of payment of fines. Since the court was opened in June, 1915, the fines collected have totaled $1,289,150.

CIVIC AUDITORIUM

MUSIC BY ROSEBROOK

The greatest motor car display ever staged in Oakland—this is the unanimous verdict of the thousands of people who have already viewed the new cars and the new models on display at the Oakland Civic Auditorium.

If you have not already seen this magnificent display you owe it to yourself to go tonight or tomorrow.

The motor car and accessory exhibits are unusually interesting. If you do not own a motor car you can well spend the time in inspecting the various offerings of the factories for 1922.

If you do own a car you will be doubly interested in the display of new models. You will want to keep abreast of the times and conversant with the latest motor styles.

BY ALL MEANS SEE THE AUTO SHOW.

OF THRIFT WEEK

Many Speakers Tell Value of Life Policy Before Schools and Institutions.

Life Insurance Day. On the features of "Thrift Week," was observed today in schools and business institutions throughout the city. Various speakers visited the schools and private establishments, employing scores of persons, and delivering lectures on the necessity of life insurance.

Addresses on life insurance and thrift were made by the following men at these institutions:

A. A. Wagon, Standard Oil School; S. Bruce Wright, Oakland High; R. P. Cowell, Paraffine Paint Company and the Standard Oil Company; Edwin Schless, Mantle & Massor's; P. L. Pense, the Standard Oil Company; Bill M. Mendenhall, General Business Club; and Arthur Langrish, Canfield's.

Many facts were brought out by these speakers and statistics were produced to show that of every 100 men who left the states, $0 per cent. took only themselves of life insurance and out of every 100 men nearly 90 per cent are dependent at the age of 65; that 65 per cent of life insurance savings accounts mature; that life insurance does not insure irresolution or avarice; because it makes it compulsory and that establishes credit character.

All of the life insurance companies and agents in Oakland are co-operating in the program of life insurance day.

EASTBAY CHIEF FOR POSTPONING MOVE FOR WATER

O'Shaughnessy Says Sitting Still While Others Work Is Dangerous.

BERKELEY, Jan. 19.—Alameda county was scored yesterday for sitting still while other bay communities developed their own water systems. M. M. O'Shaughnessy, chief engineer of San Francisco, and chief engineer of the Hetch Hetchy project, who addressed the Rotary Club yesterday at the H. H. Whitcomb.

"You people of Berkeley, Oakland, Alameda and the other Eastbay communities are not doing a thing toward development of an adequate water supply," said O'Shaughnessy. "You seem to be self-satisfied and are permitting other communities to go ahead."

"As a matter of fact, you ought to be ashamed of yourselves for letting the people of Marin county outstrip you in water development. The Marin county water project is now a self-sustaining institution and those people are selling water from Mt. Tamalpais, not only to the people of Marin county but actually shipping it by ferry to Crocker, for use in the sugar mills."

"In about five years the Hetch Hetchy water will be delivered in the Niles aqueduct and if you wish to avail yourself of that supply, you may do so."

"In about two years San Francisco will have about 60,000-horsepower of electric energy for use. Of this the railways and other municipal activities of San Francisco will take about 20,000-horsepower. This will leave 40,000-horsepower to be sold, but I can already see that opposition will be offered to selling this excess to private industries, and the city outside of the municipal operation. Some people would rather see all that power go to waste than to have the community get the benefit."

"My advice to the people of the Eastbay region is to join together for the organization of a metropolitan water district. Then you may take water from Hetch Hetchy or from any other source that you find to your best advantage."

RUSSIAN OPERA COMPANY STARS MARRIED IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—After nine years spent together in the same opera company, enduring hardships of exile and sometimes almost hunger, Nikolai Carlsch, artist and agriculturist, and Marie Makrahinsky, whose stage name is Marie Mascher, were married today by Justice of the Peace Conlan. Both are members of the Russian Grand Opera Company, and Carlsch has been playing father to the bride ever since the two joined the same aggregation. Vladimir Svetloff, who has been playing opposite the bride in husband roles, was the best man. The honeymoon will be spent here, the company leaving shortly to fill engagements elsewhere in the State.

SMELTERS CUT WAGES.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Wage cuts for workers in the Utah smelters of the American Smelting & Refining Company, United States Smelting & Refining Company, and other international smelting companies were announced today. The reductions as effective the first of this week are 50 cents a day for workers receiving $3.75 or more a day, and 40 cents for workers receiving less than that amount.

SEVEN-DAY BRIDE SUES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Because during a brief seven days of marriage her husband called her "crazy," "goofy" and accused her of buying her husband a divorce suit, Mrs. Minnie Schultz filed suit for divorce today. Her spouse, Albert Schultz, is a mechanic. The couple married on December 19 and separate the day after Christmas.

Cantilever Shoe

for Women

Another Reduction in Cantilever Shoes Is Now in Effect.

Your Own Shock Absorber

To absorb the shocks of walking—repeated 4,000 to 8,000 times a day, for that is the number of steps you take—nature made the foot arch flexible. The shock absorber is all in the human foot," writes Dr. Lillian Whitney, "shows that only the heel, ball and outer border touch the earth. The heel, ball and outer border of the foot, that part upon which the greatest weight rests, does not touch the earth at all. Here lies the great elasticity of this wonderful mechanism."

A flexible, elastic and shock absorbing foot arch calls for a flexible shoe arch. But all ordinary shoes have a rigid piece of steel embedded and concealed in the Shank.

No wonder that women find the day's duties less tiring, less of a strain on nerves and muscles, when they wear Cantilever Shoes with flexible arches. The Cantilever arch is all-leather and conceals no hidden metal. Free movement of the foot, elasticity in walking, a normal support to the foot while standing, make Cantilever Shoes the shoes you should wear for standing or walking. They are modish in appearance and wonderfully comfortable.

Oakland Meeting Attacks Radicalism in America

In an effort to show Eastbay residents how the radical forces are enmeshed in the government, the Oakland chapter of the Better America Federation at a mass meeting of the Hotel Oakland last night launched an attack against the radicalism and the influence of the radicalism in general.

The speakers, who are touring the state, were M. M. Haldeman, president, and Woodworth Clum, managing editor of the Better America Federation. The mass meeting was preceded by a dinner at the hotel which was attended by the visiting guests and directors of the local organization. It was presided over by A. S. Jenson, director in the federation.

Haldeman stated the purposes of the federation, and gave a brief view of the activities of the radical forces that led up to the formation of the organization. Clum devoted his talk to an expose of the workings of the radical forces and of the methods of the so-called American revolutionists.

CHAPLIN ATTACKED.

Charles Chaplin, film comedian, came in for a share of Clum's broadside against radical sympathizers who, he said, make it possible for the radicalism to exist and by whose contributions the work of the revolutionists is carried on. Chaplin, Clum pointed out, in his own writings, said he was a personal friend of Max Eastman and a stockholder in the Liberator Magazine.

During Clum's statement regarding a recent appeal sent out by the Liberator Magazine in an effort to raise funds to maintain the publication, he mentioned some special appeals which he said were sent to Charles Chaplin, Mrs. K. C. Garz of Alameda and Charlotte Anita, Whitney of Oakland. At this point there was a stir in the audience when a woman stood up and announced that she was Mrs. Kate Crane Garz of Alameda.

WOMAN INTERRUPTS.

"I am afraid my principles and activities have been misunderstood," she said. "I attended this meeting because I saw my name mentioned on a circular sent out by the Better America Federation."

She was told by the speaker that her presence was welcome and that she possibly would be given some enlightenment concerning her associations which might serve to guide her in the future.

Clum said in part:

The best single bit of advice ever handed down was "Know Thyself." Self-analysis and self-determination have been the wonder workers of history. Individually we have prospered, but as a people we have neglected the advice for the past sixty years with the result that the ship of state is drifting from the true course charted by the founders of this republic.

What are you going to do about it? That is why we are here to-day to talk it over.

"FLOOD OF PROPAGANDA."

For several years a group of intellectual revolutionists in New York city have been flooding America with propaganda, denouncing our form of government, defending slackers, eulogizing anarchists and openly arousing the class-conscious passions of the masses. This propaganda has been a monthly magazine, the Liberator, edited by Max Eastman, a Harvard graduate.

The Liberator has sent out a touching appeal for funds with which to continue its existence. It ought to be able to raise a tidy sum from two or three of its stockholders. For instance, Charles Chaplin of Los Angeles, Mrs. K. C. Garz of Alameda and Charlotte Anita Whitney of Oakland. The film comedian has considerable spare change, and is not only a stockholder in the Liberator, but is proud of friendship with Max Eastman. In the London (England) Evening News of December 2, 1921, Chaplin has a four-column story entitled "My Farewell Party," in which he says: "Among the guests was Max Eastman, one of my best friends; a radical, a poet and editor of the Liberator."

Max Eastman isn't worrying where the money is coming from. He knows where the loose purse strings are, and among the "high brow" radicals. The folks who should be worrying are the rank and file of red-blooded, sure-enough Americans.

Does freedom of the press mean license to destroy?

Whose business is it to put a stop to this sort of thing?

Does your conscience bother you a little?

Have you been neglecting something?

We are on the job and want to help.

NECESSITY FOR ACTION.

Haldeman said: "The trend of present day affairs shows plainly the necessity for you and me and all thinking men to take a lively interest in all that has to do with public affairs. This includes a consideration of our laws, state, county and municipal, and the men who make and administer them. To do this collectively, some form of organization is necessary. What better motive could there possibly be than for the substantial men of the community to pool their efforts to the end that public affairs, public laws and the public good be conserved?"

COOK'S NOTE BOOK SHOWS HE WAS BUT 89 DEGREES NORTH

OLD TOWN, Me., Jan. 19.—An Eskimo on Arctic trails who had with him a notebook and other relics of Dr. Cook's expedition of 24 years ago, is described in a letter received here from Kenneth M. Clark, a Harvard graduate, who is in the timberlands in the North-Quebec wilderness. Exploring a strange trail with a guide, Clark wrote, he found a rough log cabin nearly buried in snow. It was a one Eskimo, or half-breed, dressed in furs. A notebook in a corner of the hut, together with papers and bits of metal, apparently "national" in origin, caught Clark's eye, and examination of the book disclosed the name of Dr. Frederick A. Cook. The pages contained notes on weather, condition of ice and other memoranda.

Eighty-nine degrees latitude, the farthest north position deciphered, Clark wrote.

Clark said he learned that the lone occupant of the log was a wanderer of the wilderness. He had been with the Cook expedition, he indicated—one of the few who stayed with the explorer in party had been split by blizzards.

Clark said he was forced to turn back when the dogs went mad.

Before leaving the man said he took the notebook and other articles and had been carrying them since.

(It was in 1909 that Dr. Cook came out of the north with the claim to discovery of the Pole, April 1, 1908, which caused heated controversy with Admiral Peary, who characterized Cook's claims as a "gold brick.")

The Eskimo said he was about ready to end his wanderings and to turn toward his home, Ingleok, further north, trusting to his spear and knife to supply him with food on the way. The pork and coffee supplied by the timber cruiser were much to his liking, however, that he attached himself to him as official game killer. Clark wrote that he was bringing the notebook back to civilization.

Pastor's Son Jailed In Auto Theft Case

ARTHUR H. GOLDMAN, who claims to be the son of a San Jose minister, was brought back to San Francisco by the Police Inspector Lou Agnew to face a charge of grand larceny.

He was arrested in Burbank, a small town in Los Angeles county, on a warrant sworn to by C. W. Elsworth of 1187 Oakland avenue. On the evening of January 15 he is alleged to have stolen an automobile belonging to Elsworth.

BUNKO SUSPECT IN COURT.

JOHN LAKEMAN, promoter, was arraigned this morning before Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell on a charge of grand larceny. The date of the preliminary was set for February 9. He was arrested about a month ago on a warrant sworn to by William Woolsey of Moose Jaw, Canada. In the complaint it is alleged that Lakeman is one of the men who swindled the complaining witness out of $10,000 in a stock transaction.

CARPENTER BUREAU'S ANKLE.

A. C. HERMAN, 23, a carpenter, residing at 1424 Adeline street, was taken to the Oakland Emergency hospital suffering from a fractured left ankle, which he sustained while at work this morning. Herman was working on a scaffolding when his foot slipped and he fell eight feet to the ground.

STORY CLASS PROJECTED.

A course in contemporary short story writers will be given in Oakland by Prof. E. H. Lehman of the University of California, under the auspices of the Extension division. The first meeting will be held Monday, January 23, at 7:15 p. m. at the club.

"IN OUR MOUNTAINS ARE ALL THE PRECIOUS METALS. Our waters teem with fresh and salt water fish. Our swamps and lakes and forests abound in ducks and geese, doves and quail. Our hillsides are all valleys are fertile and productive beyond compare. In these responsive soils, somewhere within the state, can be grown all that is raised in any other state and more beside."

"Our highways are better than those of any other state. They are not perfect, for nothing built by human hands can be, but they are the admiration of not only the traveling public, but they are the wonder of all fair-thinking people, because they have stood so well the strain of the most phenomenal increase of traffic the world has ever seen. Ten years ago there were only 40,000 automobiles in California. This past year more than 650,000 licenses were issued by the state motor vehicle department. Ten years ago there were no auto buses carrying 20 to 50 people, nor were there auto trucks carrying 10 to 15 tons of merchandise or produce. Now there are more heavy trucks traversing our paved highways than there were light automobiles at that time."

"The growth of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in California, under the influence of and co-operation with the state association has been marvelous. Reed said, thirty-nine local California boards now are affiliated or asking to join the national association, giving California the largest number of boards of realtors represented by one state in the national organization."

Death Takes Two Alameda Citizens

ALAMEDA, Jan. 19.—Death yesterday claimed two well-known Alamedans. Thomas Poyner, 1932 Pacific street, died at his home at 10:30 a. m. He was 55 years of age. He was a native of England, and had lived in Alameda for many years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Poyner, and a son, Philip.

Bond Fraud Trial To Start Next Tuesday

TRIAL OF Robert L. Bradford, club man of San Francisco and Oakland, who is charged with purchasing $10,000 of Liberty Bonds from William Cavalier & Company by means of a fictitious check, will begin Tuesday. It was announced by Judge Church today. Bradford, who alleged not guilty several months ago, had his trial postponed until next week, and a new attorney appointed to defend him.

Attorney Richard J. Leman was named to act as Bradford's counsel. Theodore P. Wittschen, assistant district attorney, will handle the case for the state.

fund, be turned back to the benefit of the realty dealers who paid the fees. He advised the surplus to establish a fellowship for the four-year course in real estate salesmanship at the University of California. For a campaign of wider publicity in support of the license enforcement in this state, more publicity and advertising all over the nation to induce new immigration and settlement in California.

REED FAVORS SOLDIER'S BONUS.

Reed favored the soldier's bonus as a general principle. The veterans of the world war should be rewarded for their services and he proposed a sales tax to cover this bonus as a fair and equitable manner of reaching everybody on a proportionate basis of assessment.

He said the policy of tax-free securities was inimical to the financial stability of the country. Additional tax exempt issues will tend to create business conditions, he warned.

Reed declared that the growth of the state association during the past year had been phenomenal. A membership of less than 500 at the state convention a year ago had been transformed into more than 1350 members. Fifty-seven real estate boards were organized in California, and of these 52 are affiliated with the state association, and there is now a real estate board organized and affiliated with the state body in every city of the first 25 cities in population in California.

The growth of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in California, under the influence of and co-operation with the state association has been marvelous. Reed said, thirty-nine local California boards now are affiliated or asking to join the national association, giving California the largest number of boards of realtors represented by one state in the national organization."

ALAMEDA, Jan. 19.—Death yesterday claimed two well-known Alamedans. Thomas Poyner, 1932 Pacific street, died at his home at 10:30 a. m. He was 55 years of age. He was a native of England, and had lived in Alameda for many years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Poyner, and a son, Philip.

Bond Fraud Trial To Start Next Tuesday

TRIAL OF Robert L. Bradford, club man of San Francisco and Oakland, who is charged with purchasing $10,000 of Liberty Bonds from William Cavalier & Company by means of a fictitious check, will begin Tuesday. It was announced by Judge Church today. Bradford, who alleged not guilty several months ago, had his trial postponed until next week, and a new attorney appointed to defend him.

Attorney Richard J. Leman was named to act as Bradford's counsel. Theodore P. Wittschen, assistant district attorney, will handle the case for the state.

ALAMEDA COUNTY TO CARE FOR SO S. F. INVALIDS

Negotiations Practically Completed For Joint Hospital For Consumptives.

Terms under which Alameda county will care for fifty tuberculosis patients from San Francisco at the Arroyo sanatorium were discussed and tentatively agreed upon by the Alameda county board of supervisors this morning. The request that Alameda county undertake to provide housing and living accommodations for those patients was received from San Francisco several weeks ago.

Under the tentative contract drawn by Assistant District Attorney Theodore Wittschen, aided by suggestions from Dr. R. U. Broderick, director of county institutions, San Francisco is to furnish the money to build a new unit at Arroyo capable of housing sixty patients and pay $3.75 a day for the maintenance of each patient. Alameda county is to have the privilege of housing ten patients in the new unit. A depreciation of four percent a year is suggested in the contract, which is to run for five years. At the end of that time the contract may be renewed or Alameda county may be required to San Francisco the cost of the building, less the amount of agreed-upon depreciation.

Dr. Broderick estimates the probable cost of such a unit as is proposed at $100,000. The addition will give Arroyo a capacity of 250 patients. It now has capacity for 100 patients and is maintaining 163 patients under the pressure of necessity.

San Leandro Red Cross Aids Idle Men

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 19.—Under the auspices of the San Leandro chapter of the Red Cross, an entertainment, followed by a dance, will be held in Masonic Hall, January 27. The purpose of the evening's entertainment is to raise funds with which the Red Cross may carry on their active campaign in lending assistance to unemployed. The entertainment will be furnished by juveniles from the McDonald and Johnstone Commercial Training School of Oakland.

Mrs. B. F. Mason, chairman of the San Leandro Red Cross, has also been appointed chairman of the entertainment committee. Mrs. L. M. Stagner will assist Mrs. Mason. William Muntz was appointed chairman of the dance committee.

San Leandro Man To Attend Conference

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 19.—Farley Cramer, secretary of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce, will attend a meeting of the Federated Secretaries tomorrow at 11 a. m. in the rooms of the California Development Association in the ferry building. The purpose of the conference is to hear a report of the committee appointed to make a general survey of industrial conditions in the bay region and to endeavor to obtain concerted action of the Alameda naval base. The expense of the report was borne by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. Roscoe E. Wyatt of San Jose is chairman of the committee.

Man Ousts Boarders, Wife Sues Asserts

Extreme cruelty, inflicted in the third person, is alleged by Mrs. Nettie J. Sampson as a reason why she should be given a divorce. Her husband, Richard L. Sampson, in a complaint filed with County Clerk George Gross yesterday.

Specifically, Mrs. Sampson charges that her husband used language as vile as his past actions toward certain tenants who rented her rooms and caused them to leave. Since then she has been unable to obtain others to replace them, all of which has caused her great mental anguish, she says.

Man Who Terrorized Train Held Insane

Following his capture last night after a desperate battle with deputy sheriffs, A. B. Petersen, identified as the man who terrorized passengers on a Western Pacific train from a station in the Sierras to Hayward last Thursday night, today was adjudged insane and ordered to the State Insane Asylum at Napa.

Petersen was arrested last night on suspicion of insanity upon complaint of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Petersen. She testified at his hearing this morning, which was held before Judge S. H. Buteau and W. H. Irwin and Superior Judge Joseph Koford, that her husband held hallucinations of persecution.

AMERICA WINS AGAIN.

Secretary of State Hughes and his colleagues on the American delegation at the armament limitation conference have won the adherence of the delegates of the other eight powers represented to a resolution pledging again observance of the "open door" in China. This time the principle is stated in much stronger terms. It is designed to mean open door in fact and all the time.

While the late John Hay, who under the McKinley Administration meant well in pressing this principle before the other great powers, and achieved all that was possible at the time, the other powers did not take the matter very seriously. They gave assentations of acceptance, but they went ahead pursuing their old policy of special spheres of influence in China. In fact, these spheres had already become material special advantages when Mr. Hay appeared on the scene to voice his disapproval. It was comparatively easy to denounce them in principle, but less easy to abandon them in fact.

But there are new developments. Other matters of as much importance as the special zones of business, industry and trade of the foreign nations have come to the front and they must also be considered. America's help is desired. It is necessary. In order to obtain it Great Britain, France and Japan are ready to pledge their full cooperation in observing the "open door" principle to the letter. They are even ready to go so far as to submit to reconsideration the whole question of foreign concessions in China.

This is a spirit that has been lacking in the past. Mr. Hughes has taken advantage of it. He has set about to rectify the whole position of foreign interests in China. And in getting the other nations to agree he has scored a signal victory for American statesmanship.

America now holds the winning hand. She has undertaken some obligations, but she has pledged the other great powers to even more important obligations. If America goes through with her part of the program mapped out at the Washington conference it will not be difficult to hold the other powers to a full performance of their contracts. If she fails it will be difficult to exact performance from the other powers.

The whole country should stand by the decisions of the disarmament conference. It should not permit itself to be misled by those who howl down the work of the conference because they simply want something to howl about. Politicians who are thinking about their coming campaigns should be disregarded in particular.

MR. HAYS RESIGNS.

During his short tenure of office Postmaster General Hays has impressed the country favorably with his ability as an administrator of the nation's great business of handling the mails. He has increased efficiency to a point which is noticed by the individual householder as well as the large business concern. He has brought uniform satisfaction to the personnel of the postal administration. He has shown common sense business ability.

It is therefore to be regretted that he has determined to resign to accept a position as principal director of the moving picture producing business, though the salary he is to receive will be about thirteen times as large as that he now draws as a cabinet officer. The people are always appreciative when a man of marked ability and conspicuous success enters the government service and they are disappointed when he leaves it.

But the moving picture industry will profit by the nation's loss. If Mr. Hays was not worth $150,000 a year to that industry he would not be offered that sum. And it is not possible for the government to compete with such salaries. There is not yet sufficient understanding of the worth of men of high calibre in the public service.

Chicago egg speculators are reported to have lost $800,000 in a week. But, then they hoped last fall, when they bought eggs and placed them in cold storage, to gouge the public of a handsome profit in the short days of January and February. It is perhaps beneficial to the general situation to have the market speculators occasionally hit by their own weapons.

THE ELOQUENT RECORD.

Advocates of county division, using the argument for a city manager form of government as a screened attack upon county unity, quote voluminously from statements alleged to emanate from cities where the city manager form of government is in operation. These statements come almost entirely from city managers, who naturally think well of their own position. They give indefinitely worded encomiums of their own performances.

Now let the record speak. It is more eloquent than anything else. Here are statements of the tax rates in city manager cities of 30,000 population or more. It would signify nothing to compare the government of cities of less than 30,000 population with Oakland. The comparative tax rates cover a five-year period, where the city manager has been operating for that period and in other cases since from the beginning of the city manager regime. The rate is for each $1000 of assessed property valuation. The statement is not long, so read it carefully.

WICHITA, KANSAS.	1919, $7.50	1921, $9.20

These figures are from the official record. They need no elucidation. It will be noted that of the entire list, but three of the cities show a reduction in the tax rate under city manager government. As to one of these the explanation is forthcoming that the assessment was largely increased. No explanation was sought of the other two. All the other cities in the list increased their tax rates.

The average tax rates for all these cities for the year prior to the installation of the city manager was $16.06 per $1000. Last year the average rate was $20.04. This means that the rate has increased twenty-five percent under the city manager form of government.

But still the mere fact that tax rates uniformly increase under a city manager may not present to the minds of all the citizens a sound argument against that system of municipal government. If not they may continue to work to have the city manager system supplant the present system, but they do not have to divide Alameda county to do so. There are other and sane ways of going about it.

Chicago, like most other cities, has more moving picture fans than grand opera patrons.

A DEAD BEAST SYSTEM.

As a result of the war, Britain is becoming a land of small holders—a change every titled personage would have declared to be impossible at New Year's Day, 1914. During the four years since the armistice over 3,500,000 acres of land in England have been sold, and an appreciable acreage of this great domain is in the hands of the previous cultivators. The sale of ancestral estates has, of course, excited apprehension among the aristocracy. The lands have passed into the hands of tenants, who long had subsisted on them. Six dukes have between them parted with 142,954 of their paternal acres. Thirteen of lesser nobility gave up 171,650 acres. More than a quarter of a million acres more also went to the people. In most of these cases the land was first offered to its tenants, and the privilege was gladly taken, for the terms were easy. This concession was the more readily taken advantage of because the farmers had made money fast during the war.

Scotland tells a similar story, for nearly one-quarter of the whole country has changed hands. During last year over 600,000 acres were sold, involving a value of $25,000,000, bringing up the total turn-over to the people since the armistice to a value of $252,500,000—at the pre-war value of the pound.

Contemporaneously with the passing of the "stately homes" in the country, the disappearance of the great town houses in London has been even more alarming for the upper classes. Devonshire House, Bath House, Lansdowne House, Grosvenor House and Anspley House—these mansions of dead glory—have passed into the hands of the hereditary owners' hands. It is not surprising that the burden of taxation on these houses is unbearable; the thing goes much deeper. They belong to a social system that is dead, to a period when "Society" much smaller than at present, lived much more together—when two or three great houses were "open" every night and when politics and social life were closely interwoven.

Some of the war profiteers who had bought stately homes are finding the costs beyond their comfortable incomes. This, and the continuous sale which is going on, will increase the number of small holders who are making of Britain a vastly changed place—not so picturesque in its ownership, perhaps, but more solid.—Boston Transcript.

DAILY ALMANAC

Thursday, January 19.

This is a holiday in Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia. It is the birthday of Robert E. Lee, Confederate general, who was born in 1807. Georgia seeded on this day in 1861. Judge Allan Poe was born in 1809 and David Starr Jordan in 1861. A patent was issued for the modern trolley car system in 1882. That was when street car companies began to learn something about the overhead.

Louis Berman, associate in biological chemistry at Columbia, is a comforting sort of person. He has written a book in which he maintains with considerable show of fact and argument that glands regulate the personality. If we are stingy, generous, crabbed, joyful, ornery, blisful or what not there is a gland to be praised or blamed.

What Berman has done, if he convinces his reader, is to chase away the bugbear of the Freudian repression. Our personalities, he would have it, are not controlled by the things we did not do and wished to do. A gland alongside of a repression is a presentable thing and one feels that if the gland is to blame the question of responsibility need not bother so much.

And what are we going to do with the astrologers who have it that the stars mix in our destiny, our habits and our dispositions? Will we allow the gland to eclipse the star? Why not? If this writer is right things are simplified, if he has done no more than offer one more theory for our careless, or studied, choice. He has at least increased the chances that the foursome Predicaments are wrong. "The Glands Regulating Personality," is a book to be read by persons who are becoming piqued at the cock-sureness of those psychoanalysts who go about prying into our dreams.

On Webster Street there is the store of a Chinese and on the sidewalk stands a Christmas tree. The Oriental, with the patience of his race, is waiting for a purchaser whom he is tempting with a sign which hangs from the tree and reads: "Chinese Lily."

The chimera of the Campanile. Ring out on the Berkeley air. While high-brow professors uneasy. Sit up in their night-caps and swear.

Once upon a time there was a girl in Berkeley who did not dance in fetching costumes. She had never routed a burglar from a sorority house and she has never saved the lives of other girls in a fire. This young girl was not planning to go into the movies, she did not take part in college dramas and she never knew what it was to go about the campus looking for her soul. Instead, with the fact that she was different from her elders she moved to another city where she is spending her life cooking wheat cakes for a man who regards her as a wonder.

Too much concentration over the pool table produces ivory on the brain. R. Spinkewitz, who has been silent for several days, showed this under our door this morning: "I see a man has passed in eight varieties. Wonder how many were mist."

Which reminds us, in response to a suggestion the other day that some measures be taken to discourage Spinkewitz, there have arrived three letters, all favoring at least a gentle tolerance. When Spinkewitz reads this he will be unlivably cocky.

The Nature Club.

The Nature Club reports today the case of an old gentleman in Redwood canyon who has trained a caterpillar to clean out the stem of his long curved pipe. No ordinary pipe cleaner would reach through the thing and until the caterpillar learned the trick the old gentleman was regarded by his family as somewhat difficult. Now, the club minutes say, the fuzzy creature has learned to traverse the nicotine tube, reverse and emerge for his bath. Seemingly he is no worse for the experience but there are indications that he becomes displeased and acts only in a half-hearted manner when anything but a superior quality of tobacco is used.

There is no place where the imagination may be given so comfortable a rest or sent on so luxurious journeys as at the Auto Show. It is our practice to jingle what's left of the pay check in our pocket, enter the place and become, at once, the millionaire. We see ourselves rolling back in the limousine, bending over the wheel of the sport car, and sticking a sassy hand out of the window of the sedan and retire affluent and refreshed.

There are some proud and snobby cars there, some upstart and fresh young things and some contented and purring animals. The temptation to stroke one behind the ears was too much for us and we noted, with satisfaction, that a ruddy-faced man slapped one resoundingly on the flank.

The man who speaks of his car affectionately or otherwise as a "boat" knows nothing of the meaning of the word. Of sea we are assured after watching a sea captain retire, who has been lying beside a neatly balanced model, slender in the hull, and resplendent fore and aft. He was particularly interested in the lights and the wheel and when he departed reluctantly he observed: "Well, now, that almost comes up to a ship."

But, for all of the beauties and the chances to ride in dreams, the thing that delights us in the Auto Show is the presence of so many formidable cars and the absence of the impulse to dodge.

In the despatch that tells of Lil—that since the suit was instituted, the San Russell sailing for Europe "to solve immigration problems"—there are a number of things that more fully deserve such attention than the main industry. Because it has been made a success is not prima facie evidence that it should be barred.

"Hays to purge movies of all bad features." It has been understood that he was engaged and given that considerable salary for general rearing purposes, but it was not believed that his job measured as big as that. However, a man can afford to undertake such wholesale purging for a hundred and fifty thousand a year.

The Chicago News discusses Emma's status. "Sweden permits Emma, Goldman and Alexander Berkman to visit that country for a month. Now, if there are eleven other countries equally polite, Emma and Aleck may be able to 'board around' the year, thus escaping the monotony of life in Russia."

Further evidence that the world is proceeding at a considerably accelerated pace is afforded in the news item that tells of a wife of 15 suing a husband of 17 for a divorce and $40 a month alimony. It indicates that they began very early to follow the custom that prevails all too generally in some marital circles.

Charley Chaplin's personal narrative will not cover the matter of the broker failing with $100,000 of his hard-earned money in hand, but it would be interesting to read his own account of just how he felt about it when the news was got up to him. If he then were to smile the chances are that nothing can remove it.

"Gold has refused to die," observes the Kansas City Star. "On the contrary, it has thrived—since the abolition of the nineteenth hole. So a movement among the older and irreverent members to abolish the eighteenth hole may be expected at any time."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

SUCCESS. Success is being friendly when another needs a fetch. It's in the cheery words you speak, and in the coins you lend. Success is not alone in skill and deeds of daring great. It's in the roses that you plant beside your garden gate.

Success is in the way you walk the paths of life each day. It's in the little things you do and in the things you say. Success is in the glad hello you give your fellow man.

It's in the laughter of your home and all the joys you plan. Success is not in getting rich or rising high in fame. It's not alone in winning goals which all men hope to claim.

It's in the man you are each day through happiness or care. It's in the cheery words you speak and in the smile you wear.

Success is being big of heart and clean and broad of mind. It's being faithful to your friends, and to the stranger, kind; It's in the children whom you love, and all they learn from you—Success depends on character and everything you do.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Miss Grace Rodgers has been elected president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Congregational Church of Berkeley.

CANTINE TOMES EXPENSIVE. I heard that to perpetuate the memory of dogs killed in the war a $2500 monument was to be erected in the Hartsdale Canine cemetery, and today investigated. It is so.

"The bronze dog is being sculptured by Robert Gatson, and it will be ready before the first of the year," confirmed Thomas W. Hunt, superintendent of the cemetery.

Mr. Hunt went on to say that $2500 is not an extravagance when one considered the sums that wealthy New Yorkers had spent for monuments to their departed pets. "Take the mausoleum Mrs. Walsh of New York built for her dogs Sally and Toodles," he said. "It cost $12,000."

About YOUR HEALTH

Do You Know How To Bathe a Sick Person?
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
Commissioner of Health
New York City.

Cleanliness is the secret of health and long life. Spare the water and you spoil the child. Neglect the body and sickness is sure to come.

The patient's bath is one of the most important features of his treatment. Do you know how to bathe a sick person?

You should close the windows and let the room become warm. In the meantime gather all the needed things together. A small table or a chair should be placed near the bed. Spread over this a clean towel. Place on it a basin, a washcloth or a napkin. Also have a pitcher of hot water, a cube of soap on a dish, two towels and a washcloth.

Protect the bed from getting wet by stretching beneath the patient a clean blanket or a bath towel. This is easily done by rolling the patient to one side, placing the blanket and rolling the patient back into his original position.

Remove unnecessary overclothing. Having laid enough to keep the patient comfortable, bathe and dry one leg at a time, leaving the rest of the body covered. Wash the patient's back last.

The bathing being completed, remove the protecting blanket and replace the nightgown. Stir up the pillow, take the washcloth out of the sheet by pulling, clear up and darken the room and very soon the patient will be asleep.

If the doctor should order a foot-bath, this does not mean that the patient is to get out of bed to have it. The bed-clothes may be loosened from the foot of the bed, the mattress and the linen or cotton sheet protected by a rubber sheet, or by a towel wrapped over a few layers of newspaper. Then place the foot-bath or pan in the bed and fill it one-third full with water, warm or hot, as the doctor directs.

After twenty minutes or half an hour the pan may be removed. In the meantime the water has been kept at uniform temperature by frequent additions of a little hot water, taking great care not to burn the patient. Dry the feet and rub briskly with a rough towel.

This method keeps the bed dry and protects the patient against cold. If the patient is able to move he may be assisted to a nearby bathroom, provided the doctor permits. Watch the sick person, help him in and out of the tub, do not allow him to remain too long in the water, and make sure his strength is not overly taxed.

When the patient gets back into bed, place a hot-water bottle at his feet and give him a nice warm drink. There should be frequent sponging of the hands and face. This adds amazingly to the comfort of a sick person. If he has fever, cold sponging lowers the temperature and relieves the aching head.

Before each meal wash the patient's nails to make sure the food he eats is handled with perfectly clean hands. The teeth should be cleaned at least twice a day, and the hair combed at regular intervals.

Perfect cleanliness will shorten the illness and promote the comfort of the sick person.

POLICEMEN NOT EAGER FOR DRILLS

Commissioner Colbourn Gets Many Protests Against Order, But Plan Will Be Carried Out, Is Decision

Following publication of Chief of Police Drew's order that all police officers shall appear at the auditorium January 26 in uniform for drill, a large and growing association of policemen has been streaming into Commissioner Frank Colbourn's office in burning protest against drilling.

The Oakland police department is militant, but not military, according to Colbourn.

To every policeman who has appealed or brought excuses against drilling, Colbourn has countered with a reminder that "a police department is a semi-military organization" and has intimated that "little drill will not hurt the department in any way. It will be done in city time and not the men's time."

It has been hinted by the patrolmen that the drill idea opens the door for political wire-pulling by persons who wish to be drillmasters. To this Colbourn has countered that the drill will be supervised by United States Army officers, who have no interest in police affairs whatsoever.

It is freely admitted that some policemen are rebellious at the drill order, and there is considerable feeling working through the rank and file. On the other hand, police officials assert that this very fact shows the need of some discipline and "esprit de corps" in the department.

"Events of the past few years," says Colbourn, "were well calculated to destroy all feelings of discipline and comradeship in a police department, and I am not surprised at this protest against a return to regulations and discipline. I am sure of the loyalty of most of the force, who see it their duty to obey."

SAYS WIFE IS NOT GENTLE.
MERCEDES, Jan. 19.—That his second wife said she would "like to knock his brains out" is one of the allegations made in the divorce complaint filed by George W. Blau, of Mercedes, against Nora H. Blau. He further alleges that she has refused to cook for him and that when he brought home his two children by a first marriage, Mrs. Blau refused to have them in the house. "Cruel and abusive" are other words in his complaint.

College Women's Club Will Bar Men Upon Stage

MISS ETHEL WOOD LINNIX, well known in dramatic circles, who plays male parts in Berkeley club's evening of drama.

Feminine Actors Are To Appear As Males in Three One-Act Plays.

BERKELEY, Jan. 19.—More men is not at all necessary to the success of the drama as seen from the viewpoint of the College Women's Club of Berkeley.

For not a single member of the male sex will be seen in the casts of three one-act plays to be presented by the club's drama section on Saturday evening at Twentieth Century Clubhouse. As the club members some of the best known amateur and semi-professional performers in the Bay region, impersonations which the talented thespians give of the sterner sex are expected to be unusually realistic. Male guests will be allowed at the performance, however.

The plays to be given are "Three Pills in a Box," one of the 47 workshop plays of Harvard University, which is of fantastical nature; "Tiffles," a drama of serious nature, by Susan Glaspell, and "Joint Owners in Spain," a comedy laid in an old woman's home, from the pen of Alice Brown.

The casts are as follows: "Three Pills in a Box"—Tony, Mrs. William Robert Grier; his mother, Mrs. George H. Scribner; an old gentleman, Miss Alice Porter; his son, Mrs. C. A. A. McGee; a scissor grinder, Mrs. Ethel Wood Linnix; a scrubwoman, Mrs. George L. Unnewehr; her son, Mrs. Samuel J. Chase.

"Tiffles"—The county attorney, Mrs. George H. Scribner; Mr. Peters, the sheriff, Mrs. Ethel Wood Linnix; Mr. Hale, Mrs. William R. Grier; Mrs. Peters, Mrs. F. W. McFarland; Mrs. Hale, Mrs. C. A. A. McGee.

"Joint Owners in Spain"—The matron, Mrs. F. W. McFarland; Mrs. Fullerton, Mrs. Samuel K. Chase; Miss Dyer, Mrs. George L. Unnewehr; Mrs. Blair, Mrs. George H. Scribner.

CLOTHING IS GREAT NEED OF JOBLESS

Food Is Being Sent, But Many Men Lack Garments For Even Summer Weather and Are Suffering in Chill

Overcoats, sweaters, heavy shirts and woolen undergarments are needed at the Municipal Woodyard.

W. S. Goodrich, superintendent of the institution, announced today that the need for clothing is becoming acute.

"Due to the charity of the workmen and the efforts of the charitable we have finally achieved it and sufficient to assure the majority of the men a full stomach."

"Then, like some evil fate, comes this cold weather to chill them to the marrow because they haven't enough clothes to keep the normal person warm in summer."

"There must be cut-off clothing in Oakland homes and we would certainly appreciate it."

FUNDS ARE RAISED.
Funds also will be raised by the Oakland Fire Department. A ball is now being planned for January 26 at the auditorium and tickets are being sold by the firemen and other civil service employees.

The Lakeview Woman's club, through its philanthropy section, is arranging a benefit card party for next Tuesday evening at St. Paul's parish house. At Christmas time this club cared for 40 families. Mrs. C. D. Collins is in charge of the arrangements.

Oliver Kehrlein, chairman of the finance committee of the citizens' emergency employment and relief committee reported today that he has received $757 in donations. Some of the larger donations came from the following: Oakland Central California League of Women Voters, $50; Rotary club, $300; Bowman Drug Company, $50; "Master Plumbers' Association," $50; Soroptimists' club, $40; California Cap Company, $100; Cleveland Parent-Teachers' Association, $25; Rotary club members, $225.

The citizens' committee held a meeting yesterday at which another committee was appointed. This will be known as the Transportation and Delivery Committee. Various dealers signified their intention of giving food to the unemployed through the Salvation Army and it will be the duty of the new committee to see that the food is collected and delivered.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN.
The committee is making plans for a three-months' campaign. According to statistics arranged by Oliver Kehrlein, chairman of the finance committee, at the end of three months there will be plenty of work in this district.

The Blue Bird Bureau of The Tribune now has $935.10 in the emergency fund. The major portion of this has been expended through Goodrich at the woodyard, to whom the money is turned on receipt.

This morning the woodyard was presented with another automobile load of dainties from the children of the Lafayette school near Walnut Creek.

This is the second "party" that these school children have held. They bring the good things for the party, but do not eat them. Instead they are set to the children of the unemployed in Oakland.

Girl Quits Home; Mother Asks Aid Of State Police

GRACE FITE, who has left her home in this city.

Love of Fun and Joy Lures Grace Fite, 16, From Oakland Relief.

Desire to lead a butterfly's life has lured Grace Fite, 16, from her home, and her mother, Mrs. Sadie Fite, has invoked the aid of the police authorities in finding her.

Checking back the tears of anxiety, Mrs. Fite appeared at the Central Police station today to request a State-wide search for the missing girl, who left home on January 6.

"She loved to dance and skate," said Mrs. Fite today, "and I fear that she simply wanted to break through the traces and do her own bidding rather than mine."

"I feel now that she is either in San Francisco or Los Angeles. I am afraid that she thinks that I will chase her now if she returns."

"Once I told her that if she didn't choose her companions with more discretion I should have her put away in some institution, of course, I had no such intention."

"If she will only let me know where she is I am willing that she stay away if she so desires. Her home is still here, though, and I wish she would return."

The girl disappeared with Agnes Cummings, 17, leaving a note in which she said that she was going to Sacramento or Los Angeles.

When last seen the girl was dressed in a dark blue one-piece dress with silver trimmings, dark brown gray hat, trimmed with black velvet and black satin slippers.

She is described by her mother as a pretty, vivacious girl, tall and weighing about 120 pounds. She is dark and has dark hair and brown eyes.

ALICE STREET MUSEUM SITE IS APPROVED

Explorer Snow, Who Proposes To Give African Trophies To City, Says Location Is Ideal For Exhibit Home

Hearty endorsement of the proposed new museum site, Nineteenth and Alice street, was given yesterday by H. A. Snow, African explorer, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

Snow, who presided at the luncheon, said that an option had been secured on the property in question, which is known as the Kendall property.

He said that the city authorities stand ready to enter into negotiations for the purchase of the property as a site for the museum.

In his talk at the luncheon, which was attended by about 500 persons, and at which the Chamber of Commerce, the Lions club, the Progressive Business club and other organizations joined as hosts, Snow said in part:

"It seems rather sudden to come out of the heart of Africa and meet an audience like this. I didn't realize that I had done anything worthy of such a reception. I always had a desire to build a big museum and worked and thought along that line for about 40 years. I believe that this collection will be a boost for the city of Oakland."

Snow touched upon his experiences from the time he sailed for the dark continent on December 15, 1919. Among the rare animals shot by Snow was a group of white rhinos. Snow stated that he did not believe there were more than 25 of these animals left in the world.

His collection, he stated, includes 68 habitat groups—lions, elephants, giraffes, African buffalo and other big game specimens. The collection, said to be the largest of its kind ever made, also includes 20,000 butterflies, 10,000 moths and 10,000 insects all properly mounted. A collection of thousands of birds' eggs are also included in the collection.

"If you will furnish a building, I'll give them to you," Snow said. "There are no strings attached to the gift. I don't want anything for the specimens. I want to give them to you as an everlasting monument for Oakland."

In introducing Mayor Davis, who in turn introduced Snow, President Joseph King of the Chamber of Commerce pointed out the value of the new collection to the new museum. Mrs. Snow and the explorer's son, Sidney, were also guests at the luncheon.

U. C. Student Body Plans Levy of Dues

BERKELEY, Jan. 19.—Compulsory dues for membership in the student body organization at the University of California are proposed as a part of the reorganization of student finances. It is expected the question will be put to a vote of the collegians this semester. The dues charged at present are $5 a year, and it is reported that more than 90 percent of the students voluntarily pay.

The new scheme for securing the dues will be to charge each student $5 at registration, the sum to be refunded to those who are financially unable to afford membership.

Jumble of Vowels Forms Names of Cubs From Jungle

A JUMBLE of vowels which mean "Big Lion" and "Little Lion" forms the names of two temporary guests at the Oakland Public Museum. They are the two lion cubs brought home from Africa by H. A. Snow, big game hunter and explorer. They occupy a cage in the antiquarian general department on the ground floor. Miss Susie W. Mott, acting director of the museum, said today that the cubs would be on public exhibition for several days. They will remain at the museum until Monday, and possibly longer, it is announced.

The two cubs were exhibited at the luncheon in Snow's honor given at the Hotel Oakland yesterday. They created a sensation by trying to squeeze out of the cage. The lobby of the hotel was crowded at the time.

COUNCIL SWELLS WOODYARD FUND

The city council added another $5000 to the municipal woodyard appropriation for the aid of the unemployed, and overruled a single protest against the paving of Tenth street from Jefferson to Market, one of the few unimproved avenues of central Oakland.

The addition of $5000 to the woodyard appropriation makes a total of $15,000 given by the council to stem the rise of the unemployment situation. In addition, the council created a temporary position of stenographer in the department of public health and safety, to handle the payrolls for the unemployed men who must be paid almost daily lest they go hungry while working in the jobs created for them by the city.

The appropriation of $3750 for the new city dog pound at Ford and Lancaster street was given final passage by the council.

A protest by 37 property owners against the establishment of a planing mill at Forty-second and Linden streets was introduced and discussed, with speakers arguing for both sides. The council decided to put the matter over till Tuesday next, although there was a general agreement that this is a residential district and the planing mill should not be allowed there unless there is further evidence in its behalf.

Mystery Note Found In Bottle in Ocean

SANTA ROSA, Jan. 19.—County authorities here today are probing the mystery which surrounds the finding of a sealed bottle containing the name of "Bertram L. Dixon, U. S. Neptune, San Francisco," on the beach at Bodera bay Monday by Deputy Game Warden Henry Landon.

The scrap of paper was dated "December 4" and contained the initials "G. M. S." At the bottom was written "care of P. M." No clew to the identity of "Bertram L. Dixon" has been found.

Travelers To Honor Councilor At Feast

Oakland Council 394, United Commercial Travelers, will give a banquet tomorrow to E. W. Compiton, Grand Councilor of California, at the Hotel Harrison. In honor of the occasion, a special meeting will be in order, at which time it is planned to initiate 100 new members.

BUILDING OF SCHOOLS TO BE CHANGED

Board of Education To Hold Special Meeting Tomorrow For Reorganization of the Construction Department

For the specific purpose of reorganizing the construction department, the board of education will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock. The call was issued by President Harry Boyle last night.

In the plan for the reorganization of the department it is asserted that $39,000 can be saved through the dropping of the many employees in the department and the changing of the contracts of Architect C. W. Dickey and Superintendent of Construction Jackson Campbell, as well as the elimination of the construction headquarters at Twelfth and Webster streets. This $39,000, say the board members, can be used to partly make up the deficit of $130,000.

BUILDING PROGRAM BEHIND.
There is no actual deficit, but it is admitted that the cost of material and unexpected expenses have put the building program $130,000 behind where it should be at the present status of school construction.

There are also three elements which were not calculated when the voters granted $4,975,000 in bonds for schools. These are the purchase of a site for the new Grant school and the construction of two schools, including Stonehurst, which should have come out of the building special funds and not the bond funds. It was expected that the present site of the Grant school would be sold to pay for the new site, but no sale is as yet consummated. These elements, it is admitted, help to put the school department $130,000 "in the hole."

WILL MODIFY CONTRACTS.
The reorganization will come after the matter has been under consideration by the Committee of Fifteen, or public education advisory committee, for many weeks.

The present contracts of Marston Campbell and C. W. Dickey, it is understood, will be thoroughly modified, and they will act hereafter as a sort of independent corps of building experts, on call by the board of education, but not a regular part of the school department.

Elks Will Conduct Carleton Funeral

ALAMEDA, Jan. 19.—Alameda Lodge No. 1015, B. P. O. E., will conduct the funeral of Harry M. Carleton tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. from the family home, 2054 Alameda avenue. Carleton died yesterday.

A widow, Mrs. Beulah Carleton, and a young son, John Walker Carleton, survive. Carleton was born in Oakland. He was 39 years old. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carleton.

Carleton was a member of the Alameda Lodge of Elks and of Apollo Lodge No. 596, F. and A. M.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

by IRVIN S. COBB

In Permanent Storage.

Once upon a time, in the middle part of the State of Georgia, there lived a banker who was known far and wide as the Human Safety Clutch. In his day he was accused of many things, but nobody ever charged him with being a spendthrift. His home was on a plantation a mile from town. One Sunday he remembered that he had left some important papers on his desk, and he gave an aged negro servant on the place his keys and sent him for the documents. It was a hot day and the road was dusty, but in an hour the old dandy had returned with the papers intact. The owner felt in all his pockets, one after the other. "That's too bad, Uncle Jim," he said, finally. "I thought I had a nickel here that I was going to give you." "Cap'n Henry," said Uncle Jim, "you look again. Ef ever you had a nickel you got it yit."

MOTORIST AND MOTORCYCLE COP

(Motorist tries to look surprised as cop draws up alongside—he had heard the deadly put-put several blocks back and had slowed-up.)

What's your rush?
Who, me?
Sure, you. Who d'ya think I am talking to?
Why, whaddya mean?
Whadda I mean? Whadda you mean?
Whadda ya think this is—a speedway?
Who, me?
Sure, you. Ja think this is a race track or some'n?
Who, me?
Sure, you. What's the big idea of going forty miles an hour?
Who d'ja think you are—Barney Oldfield?
Oldfield? Who, me?
Yes, Oldfield, or DePalma, or some'n. What's ya name?
You mean my name?
Yes, your name. What's ya name?
Oh, listen, officer, have a heart. You aren't going to pinch me, are you?
Oh, ain't I?
But I was only going twenty-five miles.
Tell it to the judge.
Besides, half a dozen fellows passed me. Why don't you get them?
Say, are you doing my work or me? I'm getting you now. What's ya name?
Who, me?
Say, whatcha tryin' to do—show me a good time? Give me ya name and address.
This is an outrage!
Ya name and address.
You don't know who I am.
That's what I'm tryin' to find out—give me ya name and address.
Why do you pick on me? Why don't you pick on some of these other fellows? I was only going twenty-five miles an hour. Why this old coffee mill wouldn't go forty.
Tell it to the judge. C'mon, give me ya name and address.
(Motorist finally gives up precious information. Cop makes out ticket and hands it to him).
Ten o'clock tomorrow morning. C'bye.
(Motorist, looking at ticket blankly).
Who, me? This is an outrage!

SANTA CLARA BASKETBALL TEAM BREAKS INTO WIN COLUMN WITH VICTORY OVER ST. IGNATIUS

ST. IGNATIUS TAKES SHORT END OF COUNT FROM SANTA CLARANS

J. McGlinchey and Vukota Roll Up Too Many For Ignatians; Neither Team in Form.

By DOUG MONTELL

The Santa Clara-St. Ignatius battle last night at Dreamland Rink was largely a matter of temperament, Santa Clara winning honors in the basketball game 35-19, Jimmy Needles and Caesar Manelli winning the right to a decoration for unusual heroism, and Coach John Connolly of the Saints almost winning a free ride in a cab of the city bastle. Everything was put on exhibition from high diving to tumbling in the course of the evening's festivities, and while the brand of basketball was noticeably poorer than in either of the two college's appearances against California, the boys were keyed up for the battle and made up what was lacking in technique by hard playing. With Referee Bob Evans on every play the situation did not get beyond control and free calling of fouls kept in check a situation that otherwise might have given rise to dissatisfaction on the part of some present.

Santa Clara won but was clearly not right. In the first half the Ignatians appeared to be leading on the job, evidently relaxing in what appeared to them to be an easy game. It wasn't. St. Ignatius started with a rush and at the end of ten minutes was leading 7-1. Coach Suarez made a bunch of high-signs from the bench that called for work and before Timmer Rufe Klavans sounded the half ended the score was knotted up 12-12.

Second Half Is Better for S. C.

After their return from the intermission Santa Clara showed signs of having had a mouthful said to them. Had it not been for the uncanny shooting of Jim McGlinchey the Santa Clara score would have looked almost as healthy as the Russian treasury. The greatest of swat was resumed with McGlinchey continuing his left-handed entry to the basket for three counts in succession before he was clipped from behind and took a brief visit to a land where birds were twittering. It must have been a welcome change at that for it was so cold that the feet of the spectators kept up a continual tramping that sounded like the approach of Cossack's Army. Caesar Manelli contributed a couple of shots to put the Ignatians still further in the lead while the Santa Clara guarding tightened personality and fought hard and no one scored except by the free throw division. Many fouls were called and in the last five minutes Caesar Manelli drawing three in a row for a swan dive formation he was executing over the center on the tip off. Coach John Connolly got quite excited and rushed up to speak to Referee Evans about the situation. Just here a blue-coated representative of San Francisco's law and order department hove into view with the evident intent of detaining Mr. Connolly to regions hence. Coach Suarez thought of joining the merry row now won on the sidelines but thought better of it and contented himself with holding his sides while laughing at Coach Connolly's wrath.

All that Suarez could remark was to Ref. Klavans: "Look at John Rufe, look at John." One look was plenty and after the copper had passed around the soothing syrup the game was finished.

The score: Santa Clara (35)—Manelli (6), forward; Vukota (13), forward; McGlinchey (14), center; Ferrario, guard; Toso, guard.

St. Ignatius (19)—Johnson (13), forward; McCormick (2), forward; Cronin (2), center; Needles, guard; Boyle, guard.

Substitutes—Santa Clara: Fawke for Toso; Logan (2) for Fawke; Logan for McGlinchey; McGlinchey for Logan; Ferrario for McGlinchey; Bannan for Ferrario.

St. Ignatius—O'Brien (2) for McCormick; McCormick for O'Brien; O'Neill for Cronin; Cronin for O'Neill; Glynn for Cronin; Barry for Glynn; O'Neill for McCormick; O'Brien for Barry.

Field goals—Santa Clara (15), McGlinchey 7, Vukota 4, Manelli 3, Logan 1.

St. Ignatius (5): Johnson 2, Cronin 1, McCormick 1, O'Brien 1.

Free throws—Santa Clara (5 of 14): Vukota 2 of 14.

St. Ignatius (7 of 11): Johnson 7 of 11.

Fouls called—On Santa Clara (9P, 2T); Manelli, 3P, 2T; McGlinchey, 1P; Bannan, 1P; Ferrario, 1P; Fawke, 2P.

On St. Ignatius (10P, 4T): Johnson, 2P, 1T; O'Brien, 1P; McCormick, 2P, 1P; O'Neill, 2P; Cronin, 1P, 2T; Boyle, 2P.

Referee—Evans.

Frank Barrieau Is Back From Canada

Frank Barrieau, the popular local welterweight, blew in from Eastern Canada yesterday and will remain here for a couple of months. Frank won a dozen battles while in the east and has another set of matches lined up for March and April. The promoters have promised to get either Britton or Lewis for Frank when he returns.

Barrieau's home is in Oakland but he makes periodical trips to the eastern coast, knocks over a few and comes back with a lot of shag for the baby.

Stanford To Meet All-Southern Team

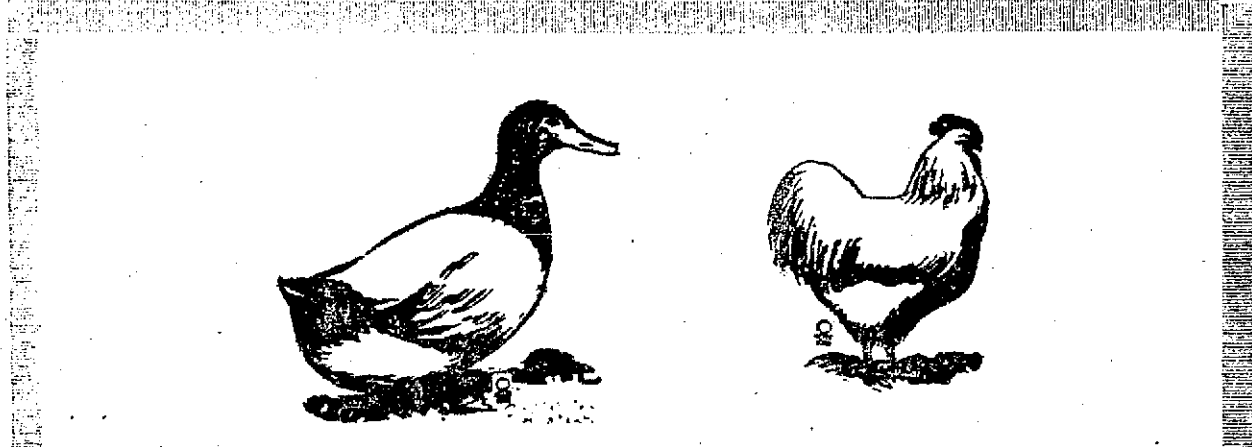

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—A track meet between Stanford University and an all-southern California conference team has been tentatively arranged for April 7 at Palo Alto, Cal. It is announced. The conference championship meet March 18 will determine the personnel of the squad to compete with the Cardinals. The conference is composed of Pomona, Occidental and Whittier Colleges, the University of Redlands, California Institute of Technology and the University of California, southern branch.

Danny Edwards To Meet Asher, Chicago

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19.—The Portland boxing commission announced its next exhibition will be held next Tuesday night with Danny Edwards signed for a ten-round bout to meet Babe Asher, Chicago bantamweight, as the main event. Asher won the American expeditionary forces bantam championship while in the army.

Basketball Player Sets Scoring Record

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 19.—What is thought to be a record for individual scoring in a basketball game was made by Jones, forward on the Fort Recovery (Ohio) high school team, who scored 58 points in a game against the St. Henry (Ohio) academy team at Fort Recovery last night. Jones' team won 100 to 10.

Chickens and ducks must like Eastbay back yards

This must be true, for otherwise it would be impossible for so many people to raise poultry successfully in this district.

In such a community as this, where a large number of people own their own homes, there are likely to be many good-sized back yards with plenty of room for a few chickens, ducks or turkeys.

Why not put your back yard to work? It will take just a few birds to supply you with all the eggs you need. Besides the money you save, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that your eggs are absolutely fresh.

The Perfect Athletic Girl

MISS GLADYS LINDSEY, one of the instructors of the Miami Beach Athletic Club, has been termed "the South's most nearly perfect athletic girl." Her wonderful strength and development is, she says, largely due to her persistent practice with the medicine ball. She is shown juggling the 25-pound globe on her feet. Easy.

KARASICK TOO STRONG FOR HONOLULU MAN; PALI MAKES BIG HIT

Series of Headlocks Makes Visitor Ripe For Final Hold That Wins For Karasick.

By BOB SHAND

Al Karasick, local wrestling champion, defeated Al Pali in straight falls at the Shrine Auditorium last night, but the cheers were all for Pali. For the first time since Karasick got into the game the customers and gimme boys were all for the other fellow and Karasick's victory was far from popular. Pali, a meek-looking individual with a large bald spot on top of his dome, appeared much lighter than Karasick and the fans as usual started rooting for the under dog. Promoter Joe Khourmian announced the weights as: Karasick 169, Pali 156, but appearances must be very deceptive, as Karasick looked as big as Jack Dempsey, while Pali is a small middleweight.

The local boy won the match on sheer strength. Pali being unable to cope with him when Al went on the aggressive. At no time during the match was the Oakland boy in jeopardy. Pali lacking the strength to even roll his man over after obtaining a hold. On the other hand, Karasick at times picked his man up, held him over his head and paraded around the ring. Some of the customers were afraid that Karasick was going to toss the Honolulu champion into the rear seats, but Al is a good-natured young fellow and contented himself by picking out the hardest spot on the mat and slamming his little playmate on his back.

Karasick Looked Like Winner From Start

It was apparent from the start that Karasick would win the match, but Pali provided the thrills by squirming out of some tough holds. Twice the Oaklander got full nelsons on his man and Pali looked beaten, when Pali Larue entered there apout the Honolulu wiggled free.

Olympic Soccer Men Play Tie With Tars

The Olympic club soccerists held the Tars from H. M. S. Maleigh to a 3-3 tie in the soccer match yesterday at Recreation park. The Olympians led 2-1 at the end of the first half, but were unable to hold the Tars in check during the second period of play. Killian scored twice for the British sailors in the second period, but the Tars' goal was scored by the work of Stuart at outside right for the visiting team was also commendable. The speedy wing man playing his position perfectly and centered shot after shot in an effort to run through the Olympic defense to a win.

but the visitor was through for the night.

In addition to the thrills furnished by Pali, Referee Van Court provided one himself when he took a broiled out of the ring with the two grapplers almost on top of him. Gene is an enthusiastic little referee and gets down on the floor with the grapplers. In the second half of the match Gene actually went outside the ropes and was balancing himself on the edge of the ring when the grapplers moved in on him and almost knocked the little official for a goal. Gene gave complete satisfaction in the role of referee. He was at one time a national champion, and has been following the game for close to forty years.

In the preliminaries Marshall dropped Stark in 3 minutes and Lewis took a pair of falls from McGuire in 1 1/2 time.

Pair of Challenges Come From Visalia

Visalians evidently heard about the grumpling festivities here, as a couple of challenges were received by wire last night. Both came from Visalia. Billy Burke, manager of Elmer Williams, wants to bring his man here to meet Karasick, and Ed Kanthe wires in his own behalf. Kanthe claims the middleweight championship of the world, making the 30th claimant.

The attendance was so slim that when Pali Larue entered there apout the Honolulu wiggled free.

Glenn Warner May Yet Be in Stanford Berth

Pittsburgh Coach Is Being Brought West To Consult With Cardinal.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Jan. 19 (United Press).—A great deal of importance is attached to the forthcoming visit of Glenn Warner, football coach of Pittsburgh, to Stanford University.

Stanford attempted to get Warner, but found that he was tied up by a $150,000 a year contract with Pittsburgh until 1924.

Nevertheless Stanford invited him to come to California and look over the situation, and it is freely predicted that the trip will result with the signing of a contract by Warner to coach the Cardinal eleven after 1924.

Stanford is said to be prepared to offer Warner a substantial increase over his present salary. The coming conference will also, it is reported, be for the purpose of receiving suggestions from Warner toward the building up of a secondary coaching staff during the next two years, so that if Warner comes he will have his staff waiting for him.

POWELL WANTED WARNER

The announcement regarding Warner's visit was almost coincident with the resignation of Walter Powell, football coach during 1920, as athletic director at Stanford. Powell, it is said, was instrumental in obtaining Warner's consideration of the Stanford berth. Powell will enter business. It had been known for some time that Powell, a Wisconsin 1914 man, contemplated leaving the field of professional coaching.

Other radical staff changes are expected here as part of the same movement which will bring Warner for a conference.

Warner is known as one of the greatest football tacticians in the game. His greatest fame was gained by his coaching of the famous Carlisle Indians' team a number of years ago. His team, not only pretty thoroughly cleaned up the country, but was also in its day the exponent of new surprises in football tactics.

UNEMPLOYMENT AT ITS PEAK IN STATE, SAYS U. S.

Conditions in California Cities Summarized by Labor Dept. Expert.

Unemployment is at its peak in California and in most of the other states, according to a report issued by the U. S. Department of Labor, which says that the situation is at a standstill, only a few signs of improvement are visible. The report, which is the first of a series, is based on a survey of the employment situation in California cities, and is the first of a series of reports which will be issued by the department.

Other cities are reported: Unemployment continued chiefly to agricultural workers, and steel workers. Many transients passing through seeking work. Building prospects very good for the year. Public construction work aggregating three million dollars provided for. Lumber, leather, printing, chemicals, and products are operating above normal. Railroad repair shops are operating five days a week. An acute housing shortage exists in Sacramento, and rents keep at a very high level.

Oil bonds are being sold in California, and the price is expected to rise.

Business and Finance

Extension plans of the Western Pacific to enlarge its feeder system, involving the construction of electric lines touching Oakland via the west side of the Sacramento river, including Winters and Vacaville and way stations, are reported from Woodland today in the closing of a number of right of way deals in Yolo county and vicinity the past few days. Vallejo is to be the objective out of Woodland by way of the west side fruit belt. A corps of Western Pacific engineers today are in the Clarksburg-Broderick district in eastern Yolo county, looking over the final details of extending the Sacramento Northern out of Washington up and down the western shore of the Sacramento river to tap the rich dairying and bean belts of that section. Work on this feeder is promised this spring.
